Ku Klux in Politics Man, Champion Animal L. G. Again Radical No Labor Party Here

Current Events

THE KU KLUX KLAN is in politics. Some candidates wish it were not. It is so hard to know just WHAT to say.

Coolidge is still thinking about it.

Davis kept quiet at first, then denounced the Klan. Somebody told him, "The Klan is in the South, largely, and you'll win there, anyhow, for they won't vote Republican. Go ahead and put Coolidge in a hole."

So Davis denounced the Klan, gently, and dared Coolidge to do as much.

GENERAL DAWES, fierce as any bear or tiger, hopped into the arena, and everybody held his breath. But no fur flew. In fact, Dawes, who could play the lion in The Midsummer Night's Dream, praises the Klan with a faint dam.

HE SAYS the Klan is a sort of an answer to Socialism, which is praise from Dawes, and that the Klan opposes lawlessness.

THE HEAD of the Klan, Wizard Evans, is apparently indifferent to Dawes' and to Coolidge's silence. But he says the Klan is against La Follette. La Follette manages to say what he means, a difficult job for some others.

C. W. HART, an English runner, fifty-nine years old, beat a swift horse in a six-day race at the Crystal Palace in London. Horse and man ran ten hours out of each twety-four hour period. The man ran 345 miles, beating the horse by eight miles. The horse, exhausted, was withdrawn on the sixth day.

MAN, ABLE to maintain himself from the equator to the pole, is the champion animal. But there is nothing great in the English performance. Old reporters remember the Irish-American that ran more than 600 miles in six days in New York City and was afterward elected Mayor of Long Island City.

Adversity is a blessing. Man learned to run far and fast, because all the other bigger animals chased him in his early days. He had to run.

PRESENT CONDITIONS in Britain and abroad are changing Lloyd George back into the good radical he is said to be —and that's fortunate for the world. It needs able, constructive radicals.

HOLDING OFFICE with power almost unlimited during the war had begun to have the usual effects on Lloyd George. But recently he has had leisure to think. His article, published yesterday, describes the Dawes reparations agreement as "dictated by international bankers, who are not statesmen, politicians and jurists aside, issuing orders with the imperiousness of absolute monarchs who knew there was no appeal from their ruthless decrees."

THAT sounds like the old Lloyd George, saying what he means, not things to please "our gallant Allies." When he says that the latest German settlement "is the joint ukase of King Dollars and King Sterling," he describes it exactly.

The other old kings are all swept away, except King George, who is only an imperial mascot, not really playing on the team, whereas King Dollar never in his life felt more fit.

JOSEPHUS DANIELS asks himself and you, "Is American labor following the British lead?"

Seeing United States trade unions officially declaring for the new La Follette party, against both the old parties, Daniels wonders if our workmen will imitate the British workers' course that made a workman, Ramsay MacDonald, Prime Minister of Great Britain.

AMERICAN workmen will NOT follow that course, because they CAN'T follow it. They lack the material.

It is not that our Labor party lacks men of thorough economic

LOCATELLI SAVED BY U.S. MEN

Italian Flier and Comrades Nearly Exhausted When Rescued Off Greenland

On Board U. S. Cruiser Richmond, East of Cape Farewell, Greenland, Aug. 25 (A.P.)—The American cruiser Richmond rescued Lieutenant Locatelli, missing Italian airman, at 11:35 o'clock last night.

He was picked up 50 miles due east of Cape Farewell.

The Italian flier and his companions were uninjured although worn by fatigue.

Motor trouble had forced Locatelli to come down on the water during the flight on Thursday from Reykjavik, Iceland. He was unable to bring his plane into the air again and drifted for 100 miles.

Locatelli requested that his airplane be destroyed and his wish was complied with.

Lieutenant Locatelli had been missing since he hopped off from Reykjavik Thursday morning in company with Lieutenant Lowell H. Smith and Lieutenant Erik H. Nelson, the U. S. world fliers.

He was last seen several hours later flying along the course from the Icelandic port to Frederikshal, Greenland, but he failed to reach the latter place with the Americans.

HAD LED U. S. FLIERS.

During the earlier stages of the long hop across the Atlantic from Iceland to Greenland, the Italian aviator, using a faster machine than the type in which the Americans are making their globe-encircling trip, outdistanced them, passing the United States cruiser Richmond, some seventy miles southeast of Reykjavik, five miles ahead of Smith and Nelson.

The last heard of the Italian aviator during the flight gave his position as forty minutes ahead of the Americans, but when the latter reached Frederikdal, their objective, he was not there, and was thought for a time to have overshot the goal.

When Locatelli failed to arrive at Frederikdal or to be reported from any other point near Cape Farewell at the Southern tip of Greenland, late Thursday night, Rear Admiral Magruder ordered the American war vessels on patrol near Greenland, to search for him.

SEARCH REWARDED.

It was this search that was rewarded last night.

The message telling of Locatelli's

WEDDING BELLS FOR GIRL IN TRAGEDY

HARRIETT VARNEY

Who was acquitted of murder in the mysterious slaying of Mrs. Pauline Keyes of Brookline in 1917, figured later in the sensational Carpenter divorce suits and is now the bride-elect of Thomas B. Fleming, a traveling salesman of Boston.

NEW ROMANCE FOR HARRIETT VARNEY

Romance has again blossomed in the life of Harriet Varney.

The statuesque brunette nurse who was once tried and acquitted on the charge of murder and who later figured in a sensational divorce case, is at last to partake of some measure of the happiness of life that the fates have hitherto denied her.

A marriage license has been issued in Norfolk, Mass., to Miss Varney and Thomas B. Fleming, a traveling salesman of Boston. The couple have refused to make public any of the details of their wedding plans.

'MA' FERGUSON HAS 80,000 LEAD FOR GOVERNOR

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 25.—Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, of Temple, wife of former Governor James E. Ferguson, was the Democratic nominee for Governor of Texas today, returns from Saturday's run-off primary giving her a victory by a majority of about 80,000 over Felix D. Robertson of Dallas, endorsed by the Ku Klux Klan.

Returns tabulated by the Texas election bureau gave Mrs. Ferguson 402,080, Robertson 324,297. These figures were from 230 of the 252 counties in the State, sixty-seven being complete.

Mrs. Ferguson received a telegram from Robertson congratulating her on her victory. She also issued a statement in which she said that the chances for a Democratic victory would be increased manifold if the people could be made to understand that the Democratic platform "condemning religious intolerance means, as everybody knows it does mean, emphatic opposition to the Ku Klux Klan."

SAFES IN 3 STORES LOOTED

Cracksmen Rip Open Strong Boxes of Neighbor Concerns on Canal Street

Operating so carefully that passing pedestrians heard no sounds, cracksmen early today opened safes in three adjacent stores on Canal street, obtaining a considerable sum of money.

The stores were Cann's Sea Grill, Arthur E. Dore's Market, and the Nonco Baggage and Luggage Shop, Nos. 122, 124 and 124 Canal street, respectively.

Burglars' tools in the form of hits and jimmies were left behind by the safe-crackers, who are believed to have entered the stores through transoms.

In the Sea Grill and Market the safe doors were pulled off by the so-called can-opener method, while the top of the safe in the Luggage Shop was broken open.

Jacob Pearlstein, proprietor of the Luggage Shop, was unable to say how much money was taken.

In order to prevent discovery, the yeggmen covered the windows of his store with paper and plugged the cracks around the door.

The safe in Dore's Market was cleaned out, and about $500 in cash taken. One check, for $35, was left by the yeggmen.

The sea grill robbery was discovered by Robert Cann, president of the company, when he opened up today. As in the case of the other store, books and papers were strewn about. A burglar proof vault inside the safe was closed, and Mr. Cann was unable to say whether or not it had been looted of $1,000 it contained.

The police of Division 1 began an investigation, and Inspector Joseph Rollins of headquarters was summoned to seek for finger prints.

PRINCESS ISKANDER IS ORDERED DEPORTED

Seattle, Aug. 25.—Princess Emilia Brondina Iskandar, wife of Prince Ibra Kuli Mirza Iskandar, a son of a former Shah of Persia, will be deported to Japan until next year's quota of Poland, her native land, will allow her to return, immigration officials announced. The princess arrived here July 29. Secretary Davis ruled she could not be admitted because her passport lacked a visa from the American consul at Harbin. The immigration quota from Poland also was filled. Prince Iskander had been teaching languages here nearly a year.

K.K.K. STIRS DAWES AND COOLIDGE

President and Running Mate Confer on How to Best Handle Klan Issue

Bearing much the same look of grim determination that he wore when he left to untangle Europe's chaotic mess, General Charles G. Dawes, Republican vice-presidential candidate, left Boston today for Plymouth, Vt., to confer with President Coolidge.

General Dawes had planned to return to Chicago today, after his visit in Maine. A hastily telephoned message from the President changed his plans and he turned toward the Summer White House instead of the Windy City.

As General Dawes hastened toward the Vermont Mountains the sinister shadow of the Ku Klux Klan hovered over the well laid campaign plans of President Coolidge and the Republican national leaders.

BROUGHT CRISIS.

The Dawes speech at Island Park, Maine, Saturday, in which the Vice-Presidential candidate openly named and attacked the hooded order, is believed to have brought about a crisis in the G. O. P. plan of battle. It is this speech, according to the belief of those leaders who are supposed to "know something" that led President Coolidge to request an interview with General Dawes forthwith.

The doughty veteran who added "Hell's Maria" to America's lexicon of forceful expressions, refused to discuss the Klan issue as he left Boston. The great willingness he displayed on Saturday to brand the klan as un-American had apparently left him.

"What's right is right and the fears of politicians cannot make it wrong," was the strongest statement he would make before leaving the city.

PLANS ALTERED.

After more or less successfully dodging the klan issue at Cleveland and steering a middle course since that time, the Republican leaders awoke to find that the Dawes speech had brought the party face to face with the issue it sought to avoid.

The plans were to have President Coolidge and his running mate meet at the White House after the President returns to Washington.

Shortly after the text of the Dawes anti-klan speech was received at the President's Summer camp in Vermont a secretary of the President got in touch with the General on the telephone and suggested that he come to Plymouth as soon as convenient.

The General rushed to Portland and boarded a train for Boston that he might make connection today for Plymouth. He plans to spend only ten hours with the President, but Republican leaders are convinced that these ten hours will see a complete rearranging of certain features of the campaign program.

The Dawes speech, it has become

'Oil King' Wins His Battle Against Indigestion

Daytona, Fla., Aug. 25.—John D. Rockefeller, Sr., has won what perhaps has been the hardest fight of his life—that against indigestion, according to information revealed by one of his closest friends, during his Winter visit to the Florida East Coast.

Since coming to Florida, Mr. Rockefeller's appetite is keen and his indigestion is normal. George N. Rigsby, Mayor of Ormond, stated that Mr. Rockefeller is able to sit down to the table and eat anything any ordinary man eats, although he uses judgment in his diet.

WILSON & CO. IN HANDS OF RECEIVER

Trenton, N. J., Aug. 25.—Wilson & Co., Inc., one of the large packing establishments, has been placed in the hands of a receiver.

On complaint of Maurice I. Klein, of Newark, Vice-Chancellor John Backes has temporarily named State Banking Commissioner Edward Maxson as receiver.

In a complaint attached to the insolvency charge of Klein, it is alleged that the packing concern is indebted to various banking institutions for nearly $35,000,000 and has a funded debt outstanding of $17,177,000.

Klein claims that he is holder of twenty-five shares of Wilson & Co. stock, with a par value of $2,500, and contends that in at least two recent instances, where interest fell due on the company's stocks and bonds, the defendant had no cash on hand to pay the stockholders.

Specifically, Klein's complaint

City Engineer Charges Coleman Company Has Taken Money Wrongfully

Charges involving J. C. Coleman & Sons Co., and its contract with the city to fill in Columbus Park, South Boston, are under investigation by the Finance Commission, it was learned today.

The probe, said to deal with an alleged discrepancy between the amount of filler paid for and the quantity delivered, has been going on behind closed doors.

Guy Emerson, engineer for the Finance Commission, is said to have discovered the amount of filler paid for could not have been dumped in the allotted space.

A considerable sum of money is understood to be involved, and officials of the company, together with members of the Boston Park Department, have been searchingly questioned.

The city of Boston has already spent over $1,000,000 on this breathing space on the Strandway, and this administration alone has appropriated $750,000.

COTTON DROPS $5 A BALE ON NEW YORK MARKET

WORRY KILLING KID McCOY'S MOTHER

Los Angeles, Aug. 25 (N.E.A.)—Almost in a state of collapse, Kid McCoy appeared in court today to plead for Grand jury indictments charging him with having murdered his sweetheart, Mrs. Theresa Mors, shooting her three other persons and robbing four others. Just before he went into court today McCoy was told that his aged mother, Mrs. Mary Selby, was dying. Mrs. Selby, physicians said, was near death as a result of worry and grief over her son's predicament.

U. S. S. CRUISER ARRIVES TO BRING IMBRIE'S BODY

Washington, Aug. 25.—Arrival of the light cruiser Trenton at Bushire, Persia, to bring home the body of Vice-Consul Robert Imbrie, killed by a native mob at Teheran, was announced today by the Navy Department after receipt of dispatches from Captain E. C. Kalbfus, commanding the ship.

All expenses of the voyage from Bushire to Washington will be paid by the Persian government and a Persian guard of honor was designated to accompany the body from Teheran to Bushire.

SEN. BALL BEATEN BY DU PONT IN DELAWARE

Wilmington, Del., Aug. 25.—Complete returns received at the headquarters of both wings of the Republican party from the State-wide primary indicate that United States Senator L. Heisler Ball, candidate for re-election, may not have more than forty out of the 109 delegates to the State convention at Dover Tuesday. The winning faction favors General T. Coleman Dupont for the senatorial nomination, although he has not publicly announced whether he would accept it.

known, was delivered without the General speaking in any way for President Coolidge. The President's own decision has made this point.

TO ALTER TACTICS.

As a result of the outspoken attack on the order, the tactical lines will be redrawn and from Plymouth comes the word that the President campaign, a fact that has been vigorously denied by Republican leaders in Maine as well as elsewhere.

has decided that now is the time to arrive at a decision in view of his earnings made's action in denouncing the Klan in one of the strongholds of the order.

It is believed that President Coolidge has no longer reason silent on the Klan issue and that within the very near future he will be forced to take cognizance of the fact that the Klan is an issue in the forthcoming

There is a strong feeling that the President will be forced into taking a position with the anti-Klan forces, realizing that a house divided against itself would have less prestige than would a solid front, even though the support of a powerful faction might be alienated by such action.

Today's meeting between the President and his colleague will be the second since the Cleveland convention the men having met in June at the White House.

DEMOCRATS PLEASED.

There is no intimation that President Coolidge is displeased with the action of General Dawes. When someone asked the General before he left Boston, if he thought he was going to Vermont to be "spanked" his eyes twinkled as he replied that he had nothing to say.

General Dawes will leave Plymouth tonight for his home in Chicago.

Meanwhile reports from Maine indicate that the Democratic leaders are highly pleased with the Dawes address. They declare that the attack on the Klan alienated a large doc of Republican votes and that those votes will swing away from Brewster, the G. O. P. standard bearer.

Mr. Pattangall, the Democratic nominee, has repeatedly insisted that the Klan is an issue in Maine politics. This has been vigorously denied by Senator Brewster, who has insisted the Klan does not enter into the present campaign.

The Democrats are now laying plans to go before the voters and ask them whether they will follow the Republican State leaders who say the Klan is no issue, or will trail with the national leaders, whose spokesman, General Dawes, told them plainly the Klan is an issue.

WOMAN DRIVER HELD IN AUTO DEATH CRASH

Her Car Hit Another That Killed Man at Work on a Disabled Truck Ahead

Mrs. Adeline Laffoley of No. 1008 Bennington street, East Boston, was arrested today on a charge of manslaughter growing out of a fatal triple automobile smashup on the Revere Beach parkway, just north of the North Shore road, Revere.

The victim of the smashup was Jacinto Silva of No. 74 Elm street, Lowell, who died in a hospital.

A truck of A. F. Spinney of Lowell was returning to Lowell bearing a crowd of picnickers and driven by Silva. It was followed by a touring car bearing other members of the party.

When a tire on the truck went flat the vehicle was pulled to the side of the parkway. The touring car also pulled in and stopped about six feet back of the truck.

Silva was bending over a rear wheel of the truck adjusting the tire when the machine driven by Mrs. Laffoley crashed into the parked touring car, which in turn was driven forward, crushing Silva.

The metropolitan district police were quickly on the scene and despite the traffic jam the ambulance from the Revere station rushed the injured man to the Chelsea Memorial Hospital. He died within an hour.

Mrs. Laffoley told the police a small touring car dodging about in front of her caused her to crash into the touring car that crushed the Lowell man.

U. S. BOAT FINDS LOCATELLI, 80 MILES AT SEA

rescue came from the Cruiser Raleigh and said:

"Locatelli sighted by Raleigh at 23:24, (11:24 p. m., Sunday.) latitude 59.58, longitude, 39.48. Embarked passengers. All well."

The position given in the dispatch, which was received at 7 a. m. today by the Navy Department, is about eighty miles almost due East of Cape Farewell.

Locatelli's unsuccessful attempt to accompany the two Americans on the hazardous journey over 825 miles of the North Atlantic, followed a successful solitary flight from Pisa, Italy, to Iceland by way of England and Scotland.

PLANNED POLAR FLIGHT.

The flight was made with the sanction of the Italian government, and in its later stages, particularly from Kirkwall to Hoefn Hornafjord, Iceland, with the aid of the facilities which previously had been used by the American fliers, and which had been put at Locatelli's disposal by the United States authorities.

The Italian originally was to have been one of the pilots on the aerial expedition which Roald Amundsen, Norwegian explorer, planned to make to the North Pole, but which later was postponed indefinitely.

Locatelli then decided to make the North Pole trip, but postponed this effort until next year, considering that he needed more experience in Arctic flying before attempting the daring feat of reaching the top of the world by airplane.

He set out from Pisa July 25, intending to follow in the wake of the American round-the-world airmen. Later, however, he realized that their enforced delay made it possible for him to catch up and this he did, reaching Iceland in time to take off with them on the hop to the North America continent.

This trip he had announced before his departure from Italy was to be in the nature of a trial flight as a preparation for his North Polar attempt, which he declares, he would make next year.

American naval officers and aviators, with the aid of Danish officials and natives familiar with the tortuous coast along the southeastern tip of Greenland, have conducted an intensive search for him since it became known he was lost, but few details have been obtined by the official naval wireless here despite continuous efforts.

It was known, however, that the searchers were facing great bandicaps of fog and heavy weather.

ROBS WOMAN, 80, OF ALL HER SAVINGS

The "world's meanest man" has made his appearance in New England from time to time in Boston and vicinity, but all rights to the title have been accorded to a crook who stole $100 from Mrs. Fannie Skolnick, eighty-year-old chicken-picker, of No. 119 Blossom street, Lynn.

The thief, posing as an insurance agent, made his escape with the entire fortune of the aged woman and her 104-year-old husband, Rubin Skolnick.

The husband's days of work are over and the wife supports herself and her aged mate by plucking chickens at the slaughtering establishment of Rabbi Jacob Schaffer on Blossom street.

TOLD OF "GOOD LUCK."

While Mrs. Skolnick was at work the stranger, a man about forty years old, appeared at the slaughterhouse. He took the aged woman aside and told her a story that warmed the cockles of her faltering heart.

He told her how a number of her friends were convinced that the aged couple were entitled to spend the remainder of their days in peace and quiet and comparative luxury.

They clubbed together and purchased an insurance policy for you that will pay you $20 a week as long as you live," the stranger explained.

"All you need to do is to undergo an examination which I can give you. Think what that $20 a week will do for you."

SAVINGS GONE.

The old lady was so excited she could scarcely talk. She agreed to the examination in a flutter of excitement. To protect her withering body from even the warm weather of Summer-time she wears many clothes.

Four skirts were removed to permit the "examination."

The woman's joy over her newfound fortune was short lived. When she donned her skirts after the "examination" and after the smooth-talking "agent" had left the slaughter-house the woman discovered that her entire savings, $100, were gone from a pocket of one of the skirts.

The matter was reported to the Lynn police, but the stranger had vanished.

ARDENT SWAINS STEAL BRIDES IN MEXICO

Mexico City, Aug. 25.—Love laughs more heartily every year in Mexico at parental objections to marriage, according to statistics given out by the Department of Justice, in the first six months of 1924 charges of kidnaping were filed by irate parents against 400 ardent swains accused of eloping with their hearts' desires.

The total would be much greater, officials declare, if the poorer classes took the trouble to notify the authorities of runaway matches. Eighty-five per cent. of the slopers were minors.

TWO GIRLS TRY SUICIDE BY POISON

East Boston Girl Swallows Dose at Rowes Wharf; Lynn Wife Attempts Life

Two young girls, one a bride of a few months, endeavored to end their lives by swallowing poison. Both will recover.

Angelina Servo, sixteen, of No. 8 Castle street, East Boston, swallowed iodine while waiting on a boat at Rowe's wharf. She was taken to the Relief Hospital where Angelina Servo, her condition is not regarded as serious. No motive for the attempted self-destruction could be learned by the authorities.

Despondent because her husband, Charles Taylor, had gone to New York, Mrs. Edith L. Taylor, eighteen-year-old bride of No. 23 Pleasant street, Lynn, swallowed poison while out walking with a boy friend. She was taken to the Lynn Hospital where it is said she will recover.

GIRL TO WED

but it is understood they are to spend their honeymoon outside Massachusetts.

For two years Miss Varney has been in virtual seclusion. The publicity that she received at the time she was accused of the murder of Mrs. Pauline Keyes of Brookline and the prominence given her name in connection with the James M. Carpenter divorce action four years later caused her to remove herself as far as possible from the public eye.

Her identity became known when the marriage intentions were filed on August 9.

For two years Miss Varney has been living with Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Ellis of Myrtle street, City Mills, a suburb of Norfolk.

It was on June 19, 1917, that the great tragedy entered Miss Varney's life.

The body of Mrs. Pauline Blessen Keyes was found dead in the Keyes apartment at No. 79 Kenwood street, Brookline, a bullet hole through the head. A suicide note, believed to have been forged by the slayer, was found beside the body.

ACCUSED BY KEYES.

Mrs. Keyes was a bride of only eight months. For a number of years previously, Keyes, a real estate dealer and dog fancier, had been a close friend of Miss Varney and it had been many times reported they were to wed.

At the time Mrs. Keyes was slain, her husband and Miss Varney were having lunch together in Boston, it was ultimately proven.

Largely upon the representation of Keyes, Miss Varney was arrested, charged with the murder. The State endeavored to prove that Miss Varney, insanely jealous of the woman Keyes had married, was the actual slayer, but at the trial which came after the nurse was imprisoned for months, she was acquitted.

Then she sought seclusion, and life moved along uneventfully until 1921, when James M. Carpenter and Eva M. Carpenter of Boston filed cross suits for divorce.

The hearing of the suits was sensational. It developed that Carpenter had been four times wed and that following Miss Varney's acquittal on the murder charge, he sent her a Bible and subsequently sought her out and became acquainted with her.

On the witness stand Carpenter and Miss Varney both testified that they had visited each other at their respective apartments on business but that there was nothing akin to sentiment of any kind in these visits. Miss Varney testified she had loaned Carpenter several hundred dollars and that as security Carpenter had given her a phonograph, taken from his wife's home.

Subsequently the court refused to grant a divorce decree in either case.

When the case closed Miss Varney sought sanctuary at the home of her friends in Norfolk where she has since resided.

At the Ellis home members of the family refused to discuss the marriage or to give any intimation as to where and when the marriage ceremony had been or would be performed.

Mr. Fleming, the salesman who filed the marriage intentions, gave the Ellis home as his place of residence.

sets forth that 202,500 shares of no-par value common stock have been issued by the company and are outstanding, together with $12,000,000 in 7 per cent. cumulative preferred stock. First mortgage 6 per cent. bonds, worth over $22,000,000, due April, 1943, are included in the company's funded debt, together with convertible 6 per cent. gold bonds in the sum of over $15,000,000, due December 1, 1925, and $9,126,000 in 7½ per cent. bonds due December 1, 1931.

CREDITORS WRITE IN VAIN.

Klein charges that on June 1 last there became due $40,000 to holders of the 6 per cent. convertible bonds, and that the defendant was unable to pay installments because of lack of funds. It is further charged that the firm was unable to meet the semi-annual instalment of $345,000 due August 1 last on the 7½ per cent. cumulative bonds.

On April 19 last, Klein states, the company was financially embarrassed and called a meeting of creditors, at which a creditors' committee was formed. Klein charges that the committee has been unable to satisfactorily readjust the company's finances.

Vice-Chancellor Backes has ordered the defendant company to show cause in the Chancery Court here September 2 at 10 o'clock in the morning why the receivership should not be made permanent and the company be declared insolvent.

His order was accompanied by an injunction restraining the Wilson company from disposing of any of the assets. The receiver is ordered to post a bond of $250,000.

Wilson Creditors Favor Refinancing Plan

Chicago, Aug. 25.—Thomas E. Wilson is in New York.

Frank O. Wetmore, chairman of the bankers' committee which has been for several months attempting to work out a plan for reorganization of the Wilson Company's finances, also is in New York City, it is understood.

Some time ago it was said that approximately 95 fper cent. of the creditors of Wilson & Co. were agreeable to a reorganization and plans were going forward in an attempt to bring the remaining creditors into a refinancing plan.

educations, such as they have in England, but that labor here lacks the homogeneous materias to work with.

MacDonald has tack of him Englishmen, Scotchmen, Welchmen, thinking and feeling alike. Here a would-be Labor President would have to work with material that would not stay fastened together—native American, itself a mixture, Irish, German, English, Jewish, Italian Scandinavian, Balkan.

THE Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse, doing their best, could not drive that mixture to political success.

A Labor party ruling the United States is far off, as far away as the establishment here of such a homogeneous population as they have in England, France, Germany or Italy. That's the safety of our financial government.

THAT the workers eventually will take and exercise the powers of government is plainly written.

First it was the most powerful fighting savage—all clothed him. Then cunning superstition played on his fears—the witch doctor, rainmaker or primitive priest bossed him and shared the profits.

Then came the kings, from Pharoahs to Czars, ruling the people, their priests and nobility sharing in their idleness and power.

NEXT through revolution or because kings needed more money the merchants and traders, called Bourgeoise in radical lingo, got a share of the power. Thus far all these—fighting chiefs, kings, priests, nobles and merchants have ridden along, quite happy, on the workers' backs, giving the workers as much as was needed to keep them alive—sometimes a little less.

THE next step will come eventually, and the crowd at the bottom, the WORKERS, will rule. But here in America that is a long way off. Men of different races, languages and religions do not trust each other, will not consent that any one among them shall lead all. And for the present, barring great stupidity on the part of finance, that finance, through its representatives, will rule.

SECRET BRIDE FOR TWO YEARS QUITS HUSBAND FOR MOTHER

HAD SPAT WITH HER IN-LAW

Friends of Somerville Girl Are Surprised to Hear of Her Wedding and Parting

A secret wedding which took place nearly two years ago, was revealed today when Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lyman Champney of Somerville, sent out cards announcing the marriage of their daughter, Edith Mary Stuart Champney, to Clinton Burpee Libbey of Malden.

The wedding announcement was a surprise to friends of the couple, who believed them to be engaged only.

Another surprise was contained in the revelation that the bride is making her home with her parents, while young Libbey lives with his mother, Mrs. Lillie Burpee Libbey, at No. 445 Highland avenue, Malden.

MARRIED IN NEW YORK.

Today's announcement stated the couple were married on Saturday, December 20, 1922, at Marble Collegiate Church, New York city. Enclosed was a card stating the young couple would be home after September 1, 1924, at No. 19 Rockwell street, Milton.

The first intimation friends received of the romance was when engagement cards were sent out by the girl's parents. It now develops these cards were sent out five months after the marriage.

It was learned that young Libbey brought his bride home to his mother some time ago. Friends of the elder Mrs. Libbey say the bride was not welcome, but her mother-in-law put herself out to make things pleasant.

GOES HOME TO MOTHER.

These friends further state that the elder Mrs. Libbey's efforts were not appreciated by the bride, with the result that she went home to her parents, where she is said to be going under her maiden name.

The bridegroom continued to make his home with his mother, who is prominent in Malden society, and lives in one of the best residential sections of the city.

No reason was advanced for the delayed marriage announcement, nor could it be learned why the marriage was kept secret in the first place.

Young Libbey is said to have had a good position with the American Woolen Company, and at present is in business for himself with an office in the Colonial building, Boston.

BEING DULL MODERN CRIME, SHE SAYS

FRANCES NASH

Brilliant American pianist who discusses romance of the 1924 vintage.

New York, Aug. 25.—Dullness is the greatest modern foe of romance.

For the woman who permits herself to lose her own individuality and reflect the personality of her husband there is no redemption.

Better be flighty, or flirty, or lazy, than dull, in the opinion of Frances Nash, brilliant American pianist.

Miss Nash was being interviewed concerning women and romance, and how long romance ought to persist in a woman's life.

"What is romance?" she countered. "Isn't it dead yet?"

Then she abandoned her pose of cynicism and said: "Many of the songs we sing describe romance as a longing for the unknown, a desire for the unattainable.

"If that be romance, I should say it never ends for a woman, or a man.

"I would say that in this respect this is the most romantic of ages. We are all hurrying forward to meet the new experience, trying for the unattainable perfection. Women, especially, are having the great romance of finding themselves.

"I am not sure the Lucy Stone League hasn't the best answer to the entire question. A woman loses her romance when she loses her personality.

"To be dull, that is the modern crime. A woman doesn't deserve it in a husband any more than a husband overlooks it in his wife."

DAWES AND "UNCLE JOE" IN NEWS REEL FILMS

Home folks loudly cheered "Hell'n Maria" Dawes, among those present being Uncle Joe Cannon, as the Vice-Presidential candidate accepted the nomination in a night notification ceremony, staged at his beautiful home in Evanston, Ill., and International News now being shown at the leading theatres shows pictures of this great gathering.

In this issue also are very interesting pictures of a vast German demonstration as the throngs, in their anxiety and enthusiasm to show they uphold the republic, turn out in mighty numbers to prove that they do not desire to have the monarchical government back again. Then there are views of President Coolidge, with his three vacation pals, Henry Ford, Thomas Edison and Harvey Firestone, as the President presents Mr. Ford his grandfather's old bucket, a Coolidge family relic, 125 years old.

In addition, there are some intimate scenes of General Pershing's last review as the Thirty-third Division marches before the retiring A. E. F. chief, and many of the General's former buddies are among the marchers.

FRENCH BUSY CUTTING DEPARTMENT EXPENSES

Paris, Aug. 25.—Acting on the most explicit instructions from Premier Herriot and Finance Minister Clementel, officials of the ministry are using the pruning knife on the budget at it was never used before, says Le Journal.

They are obliging all departments to hold down their appropriations drastically, and the public will be agreeably surprised at the result when the budget figures are published. The newspaper declares the deficit will be reduced to a much smaller figure than the 3,750,000,000 francs estimated by the officials reporter of the Senate Finance Commission.

LONDON BRIDGE FALLING DOWN IN STERN REALITY

London, Aug. 25.—The familiar rhyme "London bridge is falling down" loses its blithe note on the ears of London's officials, who have received warning that the ancient structure is bordering on the conditions described in Mother Goose.

River workers report that one of the piers has dropped four inches under the stress of traffic thrown on the stucture when the Waterloo Bridge, another of London's eight arches spanning the Thames, became incapacitated for heavy vehicles.

Tests are shortly to be made to ascertain the repairs necessary to save the original stone structure dating from 1176. The present bridge was rebuilt in 1831.

SOUTH GROVELAND HAS ITS CARNIVAL TONIGHT

South Groveland, Aug. 25.—The first carnival of the season, under the auspices of the Young Men's Catholic Temperance Association, opens tonight at Washington park. It will close tomorrow night. A large dance floor has been laid in the field, and because of the advance publicity, big crowds are expected. The midway this year is bigger than it has ever been.

Tomorrow night there will be a fireworks display. On both nights supper will be served on the grounds. The women of the town will have charge of the serving.

LARGE BETS ON TRIAL OF BOY SLAYERS

Chicago, Aug. 25 (I.N.S.)—The trial of Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, a court procedure as unprecedented as the weird crime to which they so calmly confessed, entered upon its final week today, with Chicago betting even money on whether their punishment will be fixed at death or life imprisonment.

Nothing current in the world of sport, the horses that run at Hawthorne or the daily contests at Major League ball parks, has so stirred the betting instincts of Chicago's gambling fraternity as the fate to be meted out to "Dicky" and "Babe"—the boy intellectuals who slew "for the thrill of it."

EVEN BET NOW.

Thousands of dollars have been wagered on the outcome of the life and death drama that has played daily to capacity throngs in Judge Caverly's sombre old courtroom in the gray Criminal Courts Building, according to those in a position to know. And the closer the final curtain, the more brisk the betting. It has become Chicago's favorite pastime.

Before Clarence Darrow, the brilliant, philosophical "ace" of the Leopold-Loeb defense, began his closing plea for mercy the odds were in favor of the death penalty. But two days of his masterful, dramatic pleading have resulted in the odds shifting down to where accepted Chicagoans considered it today "even money and a good bet."

DELAY IN VERDICT

Darrow is expected to conclude his argument late today. He has been talking since Friday—pleading, philosophizing, moralizing.

With the completion of Darrow's speech, Benjamin Bachrach will close for the defense. He, too, is expected to consume a long time, certainly a day, perhaps more. And then State's Attorney Robert L. Crowe will close for the State with a forceful reiteration of the State's demand for the death penalty.

Judge Caverly, sitting as both judge and jury in this unusual case, will not deliver his decision at once. When the closing arguments are all in the judge will continue the case for at least a week or ten days, go to some quiet spot near Chicago and seclude himself with the voluminous evidence and there write his decision.

NEW BEDFORD WHALER OFF ON LAST CRUISE

New Bedford, Aug. 25.—The whaling bark Wanderer, last of the square-rigged ships to seek the whale out of this port, set sail today for the South Atlantic on what is expected to be her last voyage. Captain Antone Edwards, as skipper, headed a crew of white killers, who are mostly Cape Verde Islanders, the successors of the Yankee whaling men who brought fame and substantial fortunes to the port.

KING KLEAGLE MOYERS BACK IN VERMONT

Klan Organizer Brought From South for Trial as Church Looter

Burlington, Vt., Aug. 25.—William C. Moyers, Ku Klux Klan organizer, charged with having been the moving spirit in the robbery of St. Mary's Cathedral, August 9, is in Chittenden County Jail today.

The king kleagle arrived from Newmarket, Tenn., in custody of E. C. Brown of the Wood Detective Agency, Boston. Moyers had waived extradition in Tennessee.

Ponzi in New Car Is Enjoying Life in Plymouth

Charles Ponzi is back in Plymouth, but not in prison this time. Instead, he is one of the town's citizens. He has a new auto and is seen daily on the main streets with his pretty wife.

They salute the neighbors and are greeted in turn.

RUSSIAN BANDITS SEIZED IN POLISH BORDER RAID

Warsaw, Aug. 25.—A soviet bandit gang, led by Hartosz and Gaczinski, was captured in a raid on the border, by Polish police after a four-hour fight in which hand grenades and machine guns were used by the Russians. At Radeshovitch, another gang was dispersed by the Polish authorities, some of its members being captured.

HARLOW TAKES UP BUSINESS OF LEGION

First Act Is to Name Richard Paul of Canton to Defence Day Board

Informal proceedings today marked the induction into office of Leo M. Harlow, newly elected State commander of the American Legion.

Upon his arrival at legion headquarters at the State House, Harlow was met by the retiring commander, General Clarence R. Edwards. The records of the office were turned over and a general round of handshaking followed.

After posing for a photograph with Harlow, General Edwards departed from the Capitol to resume his "first vacation in forty years."

Harlow's first appointment was Third Vice-Commander Richard Paul as chairman of the Defence Day committee.

The name of other advocate and the makers of committees will be announced later.

Other officials to take office were Francis J. Good of Cambridge, senior vice-commander; William J. McInnis of Lawrence, second vice-commander; Richard Paul of Canton, third vice-commander; Dennis H. Haverty of Acton, Mass., of Pittsburg, adjutant; Ralph Eastman of Atlantic, treasurer; Rev. D. Harold Hickey of Medford, chaplain, and Dr. Claude M. Fuess of Andover, historian.

B. & M. WANTS TO DROP NASHUA-ACTON LINE

SIMPLICITY IS KEYNOTE OF PARIS GOWNS

Straight Line From Waist Upward Remains; Everything Loosefitting

By C. F. BERTELLI

Deauville, Aug. 25 (Universal Cable).—"Youth is having its fling at Deauville. New York in its palmiest wide open days never reached Deauville, where America seems to be going on a bust.

"But a rather pathetic note is the hard drinking of collegiate and coeds who, in this seashore pleasure ground, cannot but gain a distorted idea of life, manners and morals. Anyway, Deauville is certainly one of the high spots of the world."

FRENCH IN MINORITY.

Thos. O. O. MacIntyre, famous author of "The White Lights" gave a resume of his own impressions on his first visit to the Normandy coast.

Submitted to several high placed Frenchmen, Mac's views called forth unqualified approval. Strange enough the French people who patronize Deauville are in the smallest minority.

The hardest blow to the American visitors, however, has been the persistent cold rain, which marred the Grande Semaine, preventing the most marvelous gowns specially produced at Paris at double the usual rates.

STRAIGHT LINE REMAINS.

At both Deauville and Biarritz sumptuous exhibitions resembling the following facts, which will be the next few months set our fashions in America:—

1—The straight line from the waist upward remains.

2—The low waist line is still there.

3—Simplicity is the keynote.

4—Everything is loosefitting and the corset is conspicuous by its absence.

But—the skirt is shortened and "whipped." Therefore the moderate priced gown is out of all question and dress allowances must be doubled at least next Winter.

Naming the Yacht Often Proves Quite Difficult Task

By BETTY ALDEN.

EVERYONE knows about the consternation caused by naming the baby.

Naming a yacht isn't exactly unlike it, except, of course, that there aren't any injured relatives entailed in the sea episode.

Besides, when you're finding an appellation for a boat, there are wider fields to select from. Babies, for instance, are generally named for sentiment. Yachts are sometimes named for the same reason, but more often the owner strives for originality when finding a name for his craft.

The seventeen-footer owned by the Henry Sturgis Grews is called the "Scoffaw." I doubt very much if the person who some time ago bethought himself of this name as a term of derision ever dreamed that anyone would choose it as an appellation for a yacht.

Mr. and Mrs. Grew, whose Winter residence is on Marlborough street, are prominent members of the Manchester colony. Mrs. Grew was formerly Miss Ethel Hooper. There are two sons, Henry S. Jr., of the Harvard '24 class, and James H. Grew and a daughter, Miss Ethel Grew. Mr. Grew, by the way, is on the executive committee of the Manchester Yacht Club.

Another seventeen-footer anchoring in Manchester waters is the "Debonnair," owned jointly by William Dexter and Reginald Foster, Jr.

Of the few feminine followers of this sport is Mrs. Harry Pratt McKean, owner of the "Mah Jong," who is quite as keen about sailing as her father, George Lee of Beverly Farms.

Mrs. McKean, who was formerly Bessie Lee, is noted as a thorough good sport all along the Shore, where she and husband have a year-round place at the Farms.

Earlier in the season the one-time Bessie Lee and her sister, Mrs. Arthur Adams (Margery Lee), went over to London for a visit with another sister, Mrs. Grey-Edwards (Florence Lee), whose marriage to the British major took place last December at the Lee estate.

YACHTSWOMAN

Mrs. Henry Sturgis Grew of Marlboro street and Manchester is one of the prominent matrons along the North Shore.

Society Notes

Nearly two hundred members of the Berkshire colonies splashed about at the long-anticipated "swimming tea," which Miss Kate Cary gave at Lenox the other day.

The party was held to "christen" the new concrete swimming pool at the new cottage at Ritz-Carlton.

After a refreshing dip the guests gathered about the tea tables at which presided Mrs. J. Frederick Schenck of Boston and Miss Carolina Leroy Webb of New York.

Always a leader in things original is Mrs. Richard T. Wilson of New York, who was formerly Miss Marion Mason of Boston.

At present Mrs. Wilson—quite noted for her flair for things Bohemian—is at Saratoga Springs for the races. It is largely due to her inspiration and interest that the floral fete, revived after a quarter of a century, will be given at Saratoga, September 2.

Mrs. Wilson is chairman of the patronesses for the ball, which will be the evening feature of the fete.

Mr. and Mrs. Bayard Warren have been spending a few days in New York at the Ritz-Carlton.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hays Hammond of Washington and Gloucester have returned from Europe on board the Aquitania.

Also returning on the Aquitania were Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Endicott and their daughter, Miss Barbara Endicott of Boston.

Mrs. Leonard C. Hanna has come on from Cleveland to visit her daughter, Mrs. Paul Moore at Pride's Crossing.

Mrs. Robert Hale Bancroft is again opening "If le Farm," Beverly, for the annual fair of St. Peter's Church, Thursday, September 4.

The Myopia Hunt Club at Hamilton will hold its annual golf invitation handicap four-ball tournament from Wednesday to Saturday of this week. It is open to members, associate members and others whom the committee may invite.

On Saturday, September 6 a fair will be held on the George E. Barnard estate in Ipswich for the benefit of the Cable Memorial Hospital.

RADCLIFFE GIRL NAMED FIELD DIRECTOR

Miss Pigeon Joins Training School for Public Service in Boston

Miss Helen DuMarresque Pigeon has been appointed field director of the Training School for Public Service, which opens for its fourth season in September under the auspices of the Women's Municipal League.

Miss Pigeon will be ready for consultation after September 10, at the League office, No. 25 Huntington avenue. By arrangement with the School of Social Work, the class studies will be under members of the faculty of that school at No. 18 Somerset street.

Miss Pigeon

WELL TRAINED.

Miss Pigeon's experience gives her unusual qualifications for directing the field work of women in training for public service. She is a graduate of Radcliffe College, A.B., and of the School of Social Work, 1917, having spent the interval in special statistical work under Dr. Susan M. Kingsbury at the Research Bureau of the Women's Educational and Industrial Union.

Later she became a member of the staff of the Society for the Care of Girls, and during and after the war, from November, 1917, to August, 1919, she did patrol duty for the United States War Department on Boston Common and at Revere Beach.

STUDIED GIRLS' PROBLEMS.

Miss Pigeon as general secretary of the Girls' Welfare Society of Worcester, has since given special attention to the moral problems of girls and the background of life out of which many of their difficulties arise.

Under her direction students will be given first-hand experience in knowing how social agencies work, both to help individuals in their personal problems and also in the development of wholesome recreation that leads away from temptation into the good times that develop intelligence and character.

Besides the courses offered for attendance officers and policewomen already announced, one for factory inspectors is under consideration. Those interested in preparing for future civil service examinations in that department of State Government are advised to talk with Miss Pigeon.

LINER COLUMBUS HAS BROKEN DOCKING RECORD

New York, Aug. 25.—What was said to be a record was established today by Capt. N. Johnson of the liner Columbus, when he docked the massive 32,354-ton inbound ship in fifty minutes from the time she left quarantine.

Instead of having a dozen or more tugs maneuvre the Columbus along side her pier, Capt. Johnson steamed up to the head of the pier, dropped anchor, and then with the aid of only two tugs, swung his ship into her berth. Veteran shipping men said this was the first time they had ever seen such a feat accomplished in New York harbor.

RUSSIAN ADMIRAL QUITS MANILA FOR FRANCE

Manila, Aug. 25 (A.P.)—Admiral Stark, who arrived here early in 1923, as leader of an expedition of Russian refugees, who, as adherents of the Czarist regime, had been forced to flee from Vladivostok, has left here for France via the Suez Canal.

A dozen other members of the party which has been here for a year and a half, left for Shanghai, leaving only forty refugees camped in the vicinity of the United States naval station at Olongapo, where they have been provided with shelter and food for many months by the Red Cross and other charitable organizations.

JOHN STEWART, FRIEND OF LINCOLN, 102 TODAY

Morristown, N. J., Aug. 25.—John A. Stewart, banker, "the grand old man of Wall Street," personal friend of Abraham Lincoln, and president pro tem of Princeton niversity, after Woodrow Wilson's resignation to become Governor of New Jersey, today observed his 102nd birthday at his country home here.

Mr. Stewart was assistant secretary of the Treasury during the Cleveland administration and is the oldest living alumnus of Columbia University.

$200,000 Gift to Colored Cook by Horse Breeder

Lexington, Ky., Aug. 25.—John T. Hughes, wealthy horse breeder, who died recently, is found by his will to have left his beautiful brick mansion, with 275 acres of land, all the valuable furniture, farming implements and stock, valued at more than $300,000, to his colored cook, for 10 years, Ellen Wilson.

Her son, Robert H. Wilson, is given a farm of 160 acres, with a mansion house, valued at $75,000.

Hughes' colored valet, Alex Rankin, is given $50,000.

All his relatives are cut off in the will.

PRINCE BANGS BAG IN BIG SHIP'S GYM

Luncheon With Coolidge on Saturday to Be Private Family Affair

Aboard the Berengaria, Aug. 25.—The Prince of Wales, en route for a holiday in the United States and Canada, is not going to get out of condition while crossing the Atlantic.

He availed himself this forenoon of the ship's gymnasium where he spent some time boxing. He then took a Turkish bath and later enjoyed a swim. He began the day with walking exercises.

It was learned that the Prince's luncheon with President Coolidge in Washington next Saturday will be a private family affair. The President's invitation was extended

"Prices realized on Swift & Company sales of carcass beef in Boston for week ending Saturday, August 23rd on shipments sold out ranged from 4.00 cents to 18.75 cents per pound and averaged 10.67 cents per pound."—Advt.

through American Ambassador Kellogg in London.

The Prince is enthusiastic over the Berengaria which he said is the largest liner on which he has ever traveled.

TORONTO CANOEIST IS PADDLING TO ROME

St. John, N. B., Aug. 25.—G. H. G. Smyth of Toronto arrived here in a canoe in which he paddled from Sydney, C. B., in seventeen days of actual travel. Smyth is on his way to Rome, which he expects to reach in January, 1925. His next objective after leaving here is New York, where he will take a steamer to England and then paddle to Italy.

DRIVE ON FIRPO RENEWED BY PASTOR

Canon Chase Again Demands Argentine Boxer Be Sent Out of Country

New York, Aug. 25 (Universal)—The Rev. Canon William Sheafe Chase, who is leading the fight to deport Luis Angel Firpo, fired a broadside at Commissioner of Immigration Curran, declaring his failure to act in the case "is as evil in its results as if he had been bribed."

Preaching at Christ Church, Brooklyn, Canon Chase said that the inefficiency of the Immigration Commissioner at Ellis Island has amazed the country."

DENIES CHARGES.

Canon Chase denied charges by Ryman Rushel, attorney for Firpo, that representations had been made to Tex Rickard, promoter of the Willis-Firpo fight, that the charges against the Argentine fighter would be dropped if $5,000 were paid. This money, said Rushel, was to go to the New York Civic League, of which Canon Chase is a leading spirit.

The rector said that the Civic League would never accept any money from Rickard. He refused to divulge the names of contributors to the league.

CALLS FOR ACTION.

Canon Chase called for the immediate deportation of Firpo.

"If the United States immigration officials hesitate any longer," said the rector, "popular respect for the administration of law will be increased. If the deportation does not occur until after the fight on September 11 disrespect for public officials will be increased. The multitude of the people who believe in treating the man and woman alike and who think that a miscarriage of justice has occurred will write to the Secretary of Labor, James J. Davis, Washington, and ask him to deport Firpo immediately."

REPUBLIC "DAUGHTER OF FRANCE" SAYS HERRIOTT

PARIS, Aug. 25 (A.P.).—"The Turkish Republic is a daughter of France," Premier Herriot declared today when the Chamber began a discussion of the treaty of Lausanne, the Lausanne protocol covering racial minorities and the Thracian treaty of Sevres signed in 1920.

M. Herriot urged ratification and other speakers also supported ratification, declaring that such action was necessary in the interests of French trade and French education and religious work in the territories affected.

THIERY WILL GO BEHIND BARS TOMORROW

Doctor Charged With Killing His Brother-in-Law to Plead Not Guilty

By BERT FORD.

Transfer of Dr. Raymond D. Thiery, alleged slayer of his brother-in-law, David M. Noble, from Massachusetts General Hospital to East Cambridge Jail which was scheduled to take place today, has been postponed until tomorrow by agreement of both parties.

Dr. Edward R. Utley, jail physician for Middlesex County, found on his second examination of the defendant for the State on Saturday that the patient was physically fit to be moved today, but plans were deferred until Tuesday.

Dr. Thiery will be arraigned shortly after 9 a. m. tomorrow before Associate Justice Michael F. Farrell in Somerville District Court on a first degree murder charge. It is understood that Dr. Thiery will enter a plea of not guilty and that his counsel, Attorney Robert M. Nason, will ask that the case be continued for a hearing.

PLAN TO HOLD HIM.

Dr. Thiery will be held without bail and promptly committed to a cell in the county jail. It will be his first experience behind the bars, an ordeal he has been fighting for eighteen days.

District Attorney Arthur K. Reading, who cut his vacation to take charge of the case, will lose no time presenting evidence to Middlesex Grand Jury, which will convene on Sept 3. A speedy trial is looked for.

District Attorney Reading decided not to accompany Dr. Utley and State Detectives John F. Stokes and Joseph Ferrarf and Lieutenants Dumery and Kennedy of the Somerville police when they visited the prisoner at the hospital on Saturday.

FIND HIM IMPROVED.

Dr. Utley, in addition to examining Dr. Thiery, carefully checked up the medical records of the accused since he was received there as a patient on January 10. The officials appear to suspect that Dr. Thiery's condition following his operation and his subsequent attempt at suicide, was not so serious as first reported.

Dr. Utley found him vastly improved. The officers found him uncommunicative. He had been visited by his mother, Mrs. William C. Thiery, of No. 34 Central street, Somerville, the previous day.

The blade which Dr. Thiery concealed from a safety razor with which he shaved himself a week ago Sunday and which he used before dawn on Monday to sever the main artery of his right arm in what the police now claim to have been a sham suicide attempt, was found by one of the Somerville policemen, on guard at the hospital. The blade was found tucked in the bedding after a nurse had discovered that Dr. Thiery was bleeding from his right arm.

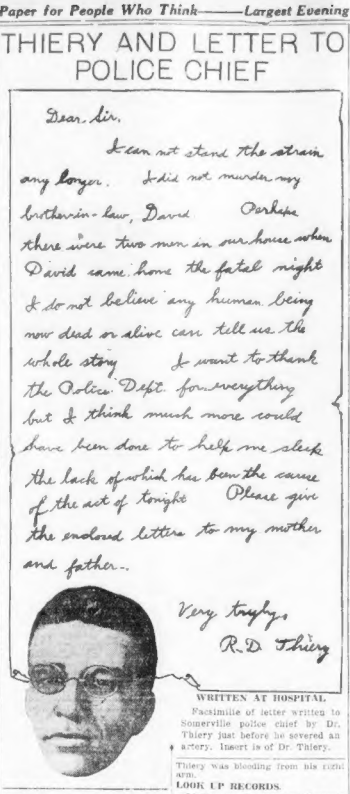

LOOK UP RECORDS.

Lieutenants Dumery and Kennedy visited the office of City Clerk Daniel M. Carmon and looked up death, birth and marriage records in connection with the Noble family.

Dr. Thiery and his father, who was the only other member of the family at home the night of the shooting, insist that David Noble was slain by burglars.

"My son Raymond told me he was attacked by burglars," said the father to the authorities, "and I believe him because he never lied to me."

THIERY AND LETTER TO POLICE CHIEF

Dear Sir,

I can not stand the strain any longer. I did not murder my brother-in-law, David. Perhaps there were two men in our house when David came home the fatal night. I do not believe any human being now dead or alive can tell us the whole story. I want to thank the Police Dept. for everything but I think much more could have been done to help me clear the lack of which has been the cause of the act of tonight. Please give the enclosed letters to my mother and father.

Very truly yours,
R. D. Thiery

"WILD MAN" OF THE WOODS PUT IN AN ASYLUM

Northampton, Aug. 25.—A young man found emaciated and blackened by exposure in the woods of Middlefield last Saturday, giving the name of Charles Burt and claiming to be the son of a Boston builder, was committed to the State Insane Hospital here from district court today for a period of ten days for observation as to his sanity.

Burt was taken into custody by Sheriff G. E. Cook after reports had been received from Boston and Albany railroad employes of seeing a "wild man" from passing trains.

Burt was able to tell little of himself. He wore a three-months' growth of beard, his hair hung over his shoulders and his clothing had nearly all disappeared. He is about 25, apparently well-educated and unused to hard labor.

He was so weakened by starvation that it was said he would have died within a few days had he not been found.

Burt said he had formerly worked in the Indian Motorcycle factory at Springfield but a checkup of the records of that company today failed to show his name.

JOURNEYMEN BARBERS SIGN NEW AGREEMENT

Members of the Boston local of the Journeymen Barbers' International Union have signed up new contracts with approximately 250 shops in Boston, Cambridge, Somerville and Hyde Park, according to an announcement made by Joseph R. Manganaro, secretary-treasurer of local 182. Under the terms of the contract the men are guaranteed $25 a week and half of the receipts over $32 taken in on one chair.

MAN FOUND DEAD IN DEEP GORGE NEAR NIAGARA

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Aug. 25.—The body of an unidentified man was found today on the rocks in a gorge a half mile north of the falls. It was brought to the top of the bank, 160 feet, in a basket to which ropes were attached by firemen and policemen. A car ticket for Buffalo, punched August 22, was found in the clothing and a hat found at the top of the bank bore a Rochester dealer's name.

PEGGY'S COUNT NOW HAS EYE ON HEIRESS

Served With Papers in Suit While in Company of Beautiful Girl

New York, Aug. 25.—The long hair for Count Gosta Morner to serve him personally with papers in Peggy Joyce's suit for separation ended at Forest Hills, L. I., and six weary and footsore process servers today will try to make up for sleep lost in trailing the elusive Swedish nobleman.

Following the Count's move before Supreme Court Justice Cotillo last week, to set aside service of papers that were pushed last month under the door of his room at the Yale Club, a corps of private detectives went to Forest Hills on a red hot tip that Gosta was a guest of honor at a party would be at the Forest Hills Inn.

They saw the dashing nobleman alight from a limousine with a beautiful girl with olive skin and raven hair as his companion.

Engrossed in conversation, the Count did not see the sleuth until he flashed the papers and slipped them under Gosta's arm.

Under fire by Gosta and followed by withering glances from his fair companion the investigator, B. Herbert Vizzer, vanished.

His assistants, however, shadowed the disconcerted pair and later learned that the girl was Miss Olga Echeverra, heiress to great wealth. Her father Gerard Echeverra, is head of a large export and import house and is leaving next week on a diplomatic mission to Brazil.

COMMUNIST REVOLT FOUGHT IN BALKANS

Berlin, August 25.—The Balkan countries are beginning to make common cause in fighting the danger of Communistic revolution which they charge is being directed and financed from Moscow.

Bulgarian authorities report finding no less than seven Bolshevist armament and ammunition depots within the country, the war material being smuggled in through Roumania. Numerous alleged smugglers have been arrested.

All Charge Purchases made during the balance of the month will be entered on September Bill rendered October 1.

ANY DAY YOU CAN

By Martha Lee

SOME day when you're canning, a wonderfully good idea may occur to you. Perhaps it will take the form of a change in your favorite recipe for preserving, or possibly you'll stumble across some better way of putting up pickles.

Any day you can is a good day ter both contests, or just one, as you prefer.

Any day you can, before August 30, when the contest closes, will be a good time to send in your letters.

Write as many as you want to. And tell your friends about these prizes.

FIRST PRIZE—A Thor Vacuum Cleaner, the 100% efficient labor saver; combined air and brush action; gets all the dirt the first time; gives a lifetime of service.

SECOND PRIZE—A Priscilla Sewing Cabinet, mahogany, with sliding tray. A beauty.

FOURTH PRIZE—Silver Bread Tray. One of the little luxuries that add to the attractiveness of any table. Finest quality.

THIRD PRIZE — Pyrex Casserole with pierced metal frame; ornamental, useful and economical.

for a good idea. And that idea may be worth something to you, too, if you're a member of the WNAC-AMERICAN WOMEN'S CLUB.

If you are a member of this club (and if you're not, fill out the coupon carefully and send it to me TODAY) you have an equal chance with every other member to compete for the eight lovely and desirable prizes I'm offering this month. They are pictured above. Wouldn't you like to have one of them? The same prizes are given in each of the two contests.

Just write me a letter, telling me all about "What I Can" and another, explaining "How I Can." Give your membership number in the WNAC-American Women's Club and be sure to mention one or more of the advertised canning utensils or food products which I list every Monday and Saturday, on this page. That's all you have to do. Isn't it easy? Enter ...

Get them to join the club, so they can enter the contests, too. It's going to be well worth while belonging to this club, because I'm planning many teas, entertainments and little jaunts through good plants for the members.

There are no dues, but many benefits.

One or more of the following must be included:

La Touraine Coffee, Blue Label Products, Dotty Delite Cake, Drake's Cake, Gorton's Fish Cakes, Hathaway's Raisin and Plain Bread, Hecker's Flour, Heinz' 57 Varieties, including vinegar, Hood's Milk and Old-Fashioned Ice Cream, Kellogg's Corn Flakes, Lea & Perrin's Sauce, Malt Breakfast Food, Mueller's Spaghetti, Quick Quaker Oats, Salada Tea, Sunmaid Raisins, Tetley's Tea, Whitehouse Coffee, Ward's Bread, Rumford Baking Powder, Grandmother's Bread, Brookside Canned Goods, Berwick Cake, Doraco Mayonnaise, Hams or Bacon, Golden Rose Canned Goods, Bread or Flour, Tiffan Canned Goods, Ecco Canned Goods, Good Luck Rubber Rings, Economy Jars, American Sugar Refinery, Handschumacher Hams, Bacon and Home Made Mayonnaise, Sechrist Pressure Cookers, Boston Pressure Cookers

Ene, Mene, Mina, Mo

DRAWN BY KERR

HOW else shall she choose! It is so hard when one is the belle of the beach, and so much sought after, not to be able to pick best one without hurting all the rest. So she resorts to her childhood game, and lines them all up and begins, "Eine, mene mina mo!"

And they—each exploiting the special feature with which they hope to win her—anxiously await the capricious little lady's decision. Will it be the dashing polo player, or the college boy, with his ever-faithful ukelele? Or, perhaps, the tennis player with thoughts of the love game to be played? Or, the life-saver, with his powerful physique, hoping for the chance to rescue his lady fair? And then, there is the son of wealth, comparing in no way with the others, but hoping his lavish display will win her heart. Who knows?

The heart of a Maid is a sealed book, until she breaks the seal and places her heart in the keeping of the favored one. So, on with the game—"Ene, mene, mina, mo!"

Burnt marks on plates can be treated successfully with a cork and a little damp salt. Rust spots on metal may be removed if they are rubbed with a cork that has been dipped in paraffin. A cork moistened with paraffin is also splendid for removing marks from hearth tiles.

BOY WHO MADE GOOD

By Wm. A. McKeever

SHOES, socks, trousers, cap, shirt—such is the complete outfit which an eighteen-year-old Philadelphia youth wore returning home from the harvest fields in Kansas.

"I sent $100 home to Mother," he stated with satisfaction, "and I made up my mind the remaining $12 in my pocket must pay all my expenses for the return trip. So far I am making good and have only 200 miles to go."

Shoe leather and auto rides with friendly tourists were enabling the youth to make his schedule. A bed on the grass or in a hospitable barn, a diet of fruit and vegetables, all to be had for a trifle from the rural dwellers along the route, and the thought of home and Mother to give his heart its upward bound—these were the natural and emotional comforts working together in his behalf.

Washing, you ask? How did he keep clean and decent in appearance? Well, that is easy to explain. He had removed all but his shirt of the wearing apparel and was in swimming with that on. "I wash my shirt while I swim," he explained. Sure enough. He was taking it off to wring it as dry as possible before resuming his journey.

But it is the venturesome spirit of youth which we parents might well have occasion to appreciate more frequently than we do. Every normal boy has it in him, but in the usual case there is so little opportunity for it to get out and assert itself. Here was a young fellow who heeded the call of the wild. Returning home he will be a sort of hero.

It is not a little disheartening to us parents to contemplate the fact that so much of potential strength and emotional interest in the young must be repressed through circumstances of the artificial city life.

At the age when nature would make rugged young adventurers and courageous pioneers out of our boys we are perforce at work moulding them into "perfect little gentlemen." Flabby bodies, flabby minds and flabby citizenship constitute the reward of such hot-bed education.

Youth must somehow have his day. Any sensible parent knows that the young eighteen-year-old, 1,000 miles from home working at a man's job, and without a change of clothes—any one knows that he is far better off than the all-day beach and-bench loafer now so common among the youth of the typical city.

Who Said It and Where

"There are whole veins of diamonds in thine eyes."

Bailey uses this striking figure in "Festus."

"On eagles wings immortal scandals fly,
While virtuous actions are but born to die."

Scandals are always sensational; they were so even in Juvenal's time, according to this translation by Stephen Harvey.

"Never yet were the feelings and instinct of our nature violated with impunity, never yet was the the voice of conscience silenced without retribution."

Mrs. Jameson notes this fact in her "Studies."

"He had a face like a benediction."

This much quoted line is from Cervantes' "Don Quixote."

"They can be meek who have no other cause,
A wretched soul, bruised with adversity,
We bid be quiet, when we hear it cry."

Meekness is often due to necessity. Shapeskpeare says in "A Comedy of Errors."

"Falsehood is cowardice, truth is courage."

Hosea Ballou gives this apt definition in one of his "Sermons."

"Be prudent, and if you hear some insult or some threat have the appearance of not hearing it."

This advice is George Sand's, in "Handsome Lawrence."

PARIS SENDS NEW IDEAS

Paris.—The interesting gown sketched at the left is of beige crepe-de-Chine and is trimmed with velvet ribbon of the same shade in varying widths. The ribbon is put on horizontally and is shirred along each edge in a puffed effect. While the general silhouette of the frock is straight, one detects a slight flare toward the bottom of the skirt. There are no sleeves, as is the case in many of the more formal afternoon gowns.

On the right is shown a gown of shaded crepe romain in tones of green from a delicate moss-tint, deepening gradually into dark grey-green at the edge of the tunic. The wide sash, the narrow tie and the straight underskirt are of plain green romain, matching the deepest tone of the tunic.

THE USE OF POWDER

By Maria Jeritza,
Famous Beauty and Prima Donna of the Metropolitan Opera Company.

POWDER and powder puffs are by most women looked upon as important beauty aids. Now this point of view is corect with certain provisos.

The moderate use of powder lightly applied may prove harmless and in some cases positively helpful to the skin. All depends on the type of powder used, the way it is applied and the condition of the powder puff.

There are any number of pure powders to be bought today at moderate prices. In buying a standard brand you are safe.

Of course, it is true of the best and purest powder that it agrees with some skins and not with others. Ask two women, for instance, whether the compact or a loose powder is better.

One will reply, "Loose powder, by all means. I find that using a compact powder makes large pores and even pimples."

The second will answer with equal sincerity, "A powder compact is better, because it is lighter than loose face powder—more like a bath powder—and so does not stick into the pores and clothes."

Which woman is right? you may ask. And my reply is, "Both." For no two skins are alike. What is food for one is poison for another.

The important thing is to form the habit of noticing your own complexion and its reaction to various soaps, creams and powders, astringents and other toilet aids. In this way you will soon learn how to care for your complexion.

Perhaps the wisest beauty of all is she who has learned that the absolutely clean face—that is, the face devoid of all make-up—has the most delicate and lasting charm, with clean pores, delicate waves of color that come and go and a flower-like texture similar to a baby's skin.

But if you like to use powder—and most of us women find its cooling, fragrant touch refreshing and so beautifying—bear in mind always these few beauty points:

Your puff must be immaculately clean. Wash it religiously each night. Otherwise use absorbent cotton and destroy the cotton. A dirty puff presses dirt into the delicate skin pores, causing blackheads, large pores and similar ills.

Dust—don't grind—powder into your skin. A dusting of light powder doesn't hurt a baby's skin when it is eventually washed away again or removed with cream. So a mere dusting of light powder should not hurt your face.

And its fragrance may rest and freshen you. But quantities of powder pressed into the pores, layer on layer, are always a menace to the cleanliness and beauty of the skin.

Never leave powder on all night. Remove it with cold cream, olive or almond oil to let your skin breathe. For your face does breathe in air when its pores are kept unclogged. And this constant breathing of the pores keeps the complexion fresh, live-looking.

The best aid to a too-greasy skin is exercise combined with simple, non-greasy food and cleanliness. Concealing grease with powder only makes blackheads.

Here is a formula for a harmless and fragrant rice powder which you may like to try:

Powdered iris, 19 grams; powdered rice, 30 grams; essence of violets, 5 drops.

Apply this with a clean puff lightly to your face and it will feel pleasant and look well.

Powder has an undeniable value as a freshening and refreshening beauty aid. But better still for your complexion are exercise, daily baths and all other aids to cleanliness, simple regular food, plentiful rest and constructive thinking. For good health is the foundation of a lovely complexion.

SEQUEL OF CHICKIE By Elenore Meherin

Follow Here the Joys and Sorrows of This Boston Girl You All Meet Every Day

IT was very chatty, all this comparing and quizzing. Every girl's friends were catalogued. If she were pretty and went out with a shabby escort, someone would say, with a sniff: "Great to be popular! As for me, I'm particular!" If the man was handsome, the comment was equally caustic: "Men—what can you expect—"

Now Chickie said: "He saw me waiting for a car and gave me a lift—"

Miss Underwood smiled and said in a drawl: "Oh, is that so? I like surgery. When I graduate I'm going in for it. I suppose you are, too—"

"I haven't thought of it—"

"Well—I imagine you will—"

Chickie wondered why she said this! why she should twit her about a chance meeting.

But she dismissed it carelessly. She lay awake a long while going through the operation, wondering if the woman would recover. How unreal to be climbing into bed at 2 o'clock in the morning; to have stayed up on this strange adventure, to be so undisturbed now at the sight of blood—of flesh opened—

The woman was young enough. Chickie wondered about her family; who had sent her here? Was it some one who loved her a great deal? How did Dr. Ramm come to know her? Would she die? Or would that difficult operation save her life? Did she want greatly to live?

She went on duty early next day. She was restless and as concerned as thought the patient's life lay in her hands. She felt a thrill, finding the woman alive . . . a greater thrill in waiting on her.

At 11 that night Dr. Ramm came in. He said quietly: "How is our patient?"

Chickie Was Startled

Chickie was startled and said: "Not worse. Isn't she all right?"

"Well, isn't she?" He went over and looked at the woman. Going out he said to Chickie: "Are you on duty all this week at this time?"

"No—I go on in the morning tomorrow—"

"That's good—I have an important thing on for Saturday afternoon, I'd like you to see it—"

"An operation?"

"Several of them— Will you come?"

She answered, mystified: "Yes. Not here?"

"No—down the line. I'll have to take you. That's all right, isn't it?"

She said uneasily: "I suppose so—of course."

"You know where we're going, Miss Bryce?"

"Well—do I?"

"To the Tech track meet. It ought to be great"—

She was surprised and showed it. He asked: "Don't you like that?"

"Why, yes—yes I do"— But in the next hour as she passed down the white silent ward she could hear her pulses thump. When she reached her room she was panting.

Myrtle was asleep. She had forgotten to open the window. The air was heavy, like a solid.

On Chickie's dresser was a large piece of cake and a note: "Dear Bryce—Wonderful cake your mother sent down. Too bad you weren't here. Knew you wouldn't mind, so I helped myself and Gates. Saved you some—"

Another time this would have spurred Chickie to a sharp irritation. Now she picked off a bit of the thick chocolate icing and stole softly to open the window. A rushing like a wind was in her thoughts—a still excitement.

Distracted Feeling

She had a distracted feeling as though some one whispered: "Now—well—you've done it, haven't you! Never satisfied!"

She saw herself driving with David Ramm—making a fine pretense of gayety. She stirred the sand in the window box with her finger, biting her lips to keep back a great wave of sorrow for herself.

She remembered the thrill Jake's first invitation had given her; and the wild brightness that sang in her thoughts that distant Sunday when for the first time she had driven down the road to sit beneath a tree. She could have wept now that all this was irrevocably closed.

But when she was seated next him and he looked young and very pleased with an almost teasing light in his deep, searching eyes, she felt a sudden lightness of spirit. She laughed with a sparkle of impudent flippance. "You seem quite human, Doctor David. But did you know I stand in awe of you?"

"Of course I do. I mean that you shall—"

"Ho!" Her mood touched with recklessness. One hour—a gay stolen hour—why not? If she wanted to laugh now—well, she was just going to! She said lightly: "Now tell me—did that girl in Vienna die? And what are all those other tales. I would be entertained!"

He talked easily. Had she ever been to a track meet? She was learning to play tennis, wasn't she? He'd seen her on the court. Good thing.

It was long since she had been in a jaunt like this. It stimulated her like wine. When they watched the sprinting he was taut as steel. In the hundred yard dash he picked out a chunky fellow, saying tensely: "I used to run. He'll win. I'll bet on him!"

The runner started with a dashing brilliance. In the last second he was outstripped. David stood up and shouted. When the boy lost he snapped his fist with a soft: "Damnation—damn!" Chickie burst out laughing.

She felt very friendly—untroubled. When he said, "Thanks for breaking your rule, Miss Helen, we'll do it again," she answered breezily, "Yes—let's!"

Alone she was startled at her coolness as though she had suffered some lapse. Finally she thought, "I can't go through life ignoring every one. I can have a day like this now and then. I'll have to—"

She was certain of her power to keep this or any friendship utterly impersonal——utterly in her own control.

It was easy with this David Ramm because in his work he was absorbed and selfless as some inspired machine. For weeks at a time he had no other thoughts.

Chickie Wondered.

Chickie used to wonder about him as though he were a new species of being. She contrasted him with herself and flushed with humility. One day taking a walk with Wildie the thought, "Did he ever do anything he was sorry for? I suppose not!"

She was confused and ashamed even wondering this. No—men like he were not buried in their own petty, wild desires. They weren't loafing about waiting for Life to present them with some glowing gift.

They were big—noble—above passion and meanness; even above human yearnings. Chickie had yet this outlook of the girl eager to exalt an ideal; to embody it in one who seemed to have the touch of glory. Then to drop on her knees and worship.

Incidents stood out luminous in her mind. There was a little boy of 9—game little youngster. His hand was mangled. David tried to save it. He worked as though he meant to fashion new fingers. In the end it had to be amputated.

Chickie saw the operation. She felt like crying. The doctor's face was pale. She had never seen him work so silently—without a word; never saw his eyes so warm. That afternoon she met him and spoke of it. He said, through his teeth: "Ah, damn! Why does a thing like that happen—great little kid. Hate a thing like that!"

Night Duty.

Another time Chickie was on night duty in the men's ward. There was a very gentle boy about 18 in a cast. The cast was split so that the patient lay in it as in a half shell. Unexpectedly he became delirious and tried to spring from the bed.

Chickie was frightened, finding herself unable to restrain him. She called the patient in the adjoining bed. Then with a kind of inspiration grabbed up the other half of the cast that was standing near the wall—set it in place with tape.

The following night Dr. David walked into the ward. He said, "Put it here, little nurse!" and held out his hand. Her heart leaped.

One afternoon he asked her to take a ride through the park. Before leaving the hospital she visited the maternity ward because of a case that drew her with a cruel fascination. Two weeks previously the ambulance had been called one night to get a young girl reported to have been seized with a violent and very sudden case of appendicitis. The girl was fifteen—an overgrown, country type. She lived with three brothers and kept house for them.

They were aghast when a child was born. The oldest brother, a hard working, well meaning fellow, came to the supervisor. He said it never dawned on him that his sister was even old enough to worry about. He blamed himself. They should have looked after her better. And now he and his brothers didn't want the girl's life ruined. They wanted the child quietly disposed of—they wanted its birth kept entirely unknown.

WAYS OF A HUSBAND

SEQUEL TO "WHEN A GIRL MARRIES"

By Ann Lisle

Ann Lisle

"IF I can make it to you shall my Rosa understand, I feel maybe better. Your Jaime you understand. When he do the naughty or the unkind thing, you say he is dear boy and that it matters not what little thing he do, while his soul she is something else. But my Rosa you do not trust. You think maybe Peter Stanley she hate and I shall see him different. Do you think, however, I see him, I shall not know Rosa has right?"

"Why, we're right back where we started!" I gasped in dismay.

"No; far we have gone while you and I are the friends. And now I make to prove it. I make to tell you what only to the one I trust I can say. Today you ask me when first I see that statue, 'The Young Aviator.' You remember I make you the slippery answers—yes?"

"I tried to believe in you even when you were not telling me all of the truth," I answered.

"But I know you are not believing. Now we come where we shall say only truths like the friends. Now I tell you why I put me the back of the hand on the statue. Shall you have me go on?"

"Please!" I cried.

Manuelo smiled as he said fearlessly:

"The front of my hand—what you call palm—she were against that statue at Marmouth Hills."

"Are you surprise?" demanded Manuelo Ortiz, breaking into the silence with which I received his announcement that his hand had been the one to leave the tell-tale mark on the statue of "The Young Aviator," out at Marmouth Hills.

"What under the sun were you doing at Marmouth Hills?"

"I went to make end to the statue," the boy said simply.

His frank declaration turned me cold. But I held fast to my emotions. My mind counseled me that what Manuelo had just told me had been clearly indicated from the beginning.

Again Manuelo smiled so warmly that I felt a real accord between us as he went on:

"But when I get me there I see things different. Rosa she cannot bear Ruth Gregory shall make such great statue of Jaime. She thinks how it take Jaime his mind from her"——

"Weren't you jealous?" I asked with a frankness which astounded me after it had worked itself out in words. I was suggesting that any one but myself had a right to resentment. Yet it is Jim about whom all this intrigue centres.

"Yes, I am jealous! But me—I am like you. I think how shall I make happy the one I love. Rosa she want that statue shall be out of the ways. She go South, and she ask me as parting favors the statue shall not be here to come between her and Jaime when she is back. So I go to make end of it."

"But, Ramon—He is your friend, too!" I cried.

"So! That is how it makes, Ramon. I do not sacrifice for me. But for Rosa I sacrifice me or anything. My queen is Rosa."

"And the queen can do no wrong" I murmured.

"She will not do any wrong. Child she is—but woman too. Ramon will be smart to hold her. Well—we speak of the statue. Rosa she want it to be broken.

Me, I go to break it. Me, I am man and I am jealous of your Jaime while Rosa she likes me so. So I like all for myself I shall make smash his statue."

CORRECT MANNERS

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I am going to give a birthday party and a friend of the family is to bring a few of his friends to the party. When he introduces them what is the proper thing for me to say and do? I thank you very much.

GERTIE.

EXPRESS your hospitality and friendliness most graciously by a welcoming handshake and by saying something like this: "How do you do, Mr. Evans? I am delighted to have you come with Mr. North to my party. It was most kind of you to take me on faith!" Then introduce each one to a few friends who are standing near you at the time. They will "carry on" the introductions.

When these guests leave say something like this: "Good-night, Mr. Evans. Thank you so much for coming. I hope that I shall see you again very soon. Perhaps you will come to call some time soon with Mr. North."

(By the way, it would be gracious of you and the best form to send an informal note to these friends of your friend, supplementing his invitation. Write a note of this kind:

"Dear Mr. Evans:

"I have asked Mr. North to ask you if you would enjoy coming to my party on Saturday, June the twenty-ninth, at my home. He has extended the invitation to you, I believe, and now I want to tell you, too, how very happy I shall be if you will come on the twenty-ninth. It will be delightful to welcome a friend of Mr. North, for we are all devoted to him and he has told us many delightful things about you.

"I am anticipating having the good news of your acceptance of our invitation. Very sincerely yours,

GERTRUDE GRAMERCY."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

NEXT to requests for salads, the greatest number of requests are for blueberry recipes, these days.

Will Radio friends in Brockton, Swampscott, Cambridge and Natick please take these answers as being for them personally?

Blueberry Roly Poly

Any seasonable fruit may be substituted for blueberries, or use canned fruit. Sift together 2½ cupfuls flour, 4 level teaspoons baking powder and 1 teaspoon salt. Cream together two level tablespoons shortening and ¼ cupful sugar. Add 1 cupful sweet milk slowly. Then stir in dry ingredients. Lastly add one egg, well beaten, and mix in thoroughly.

Roll to a thickness of about one-half inch. Spread surface with shortening, then cover with blueberries. Roll up, handling it lightly. Place it in the centre of a greased baking pan. Spread shortening over the top and sides of the roll.

Bake in a hoto ven (400 degrees) about three-quarters of an hour and as soon as itb rowns on top reduce the heat to moderate (325 degrees) and finish baking. Serve with hot sauce or hard sauce as preferred.

Scalloped Blueberries

Scalloped blueberries is delightful. Prepare two cupfuls of soft bread crumbs and toss them lightly in one-fourth cupful of melted butter. Meanwhile pick over and wash three cupfuls of blueberries. Grease a covered baking dish and arrange a layer of the buttered crumbs in the bottom.

Then arrange a layer of the berries and sprinkle with sugar. Repeat the layers until all the materials have been used, having bread crumbs on top. Use about ¾ cupfuls of sugar, the exact amount depending upon the sweetness of the berries. Sprinkle three tablespoonfuls of hot water over the top of the prepared dish, cover, and place in a moderately hot oven. Bake for 35 minutes, removing the cover at the end of ten minutes.

Serve warm with hard sauce or foamy sauce. Thin slices of buttered bread may be used instead of the crumbs.

Blueberry Puffs

For Berry puffs, cream together ¼ cupful of shortening and ¾ cupfuls of sugar. Add one egg well beaten. Meanwhile measure and sift together 2 cupfuls of pastry flour and 4 teaspoons of baking powder. Add to the mixture alternately with one cupful of milk. Last add ¾ cupful of blueberries which have been floured with 1 tablespoonful of flour.

Pour into hot gem pans and bake at 400 degrees F. for 25 minutes. Serve with berry sauce made by rubbing 1½ cupfuls of berries through a ricer and sweetening to taste.

Busy Day Berry Pudding

Simmer 4 cupfuls of fresh blueberries 1 cupful of sugar, and ½ cupful of water, until the blueberries are tender and the sirup is thick. Meanwhile shave thin, slivery pieces from a loaf of bread which is at least 24 hours old, removing all crusts. Spread the bread with very soft butter.

Grease a large bowl or pudding dish and fill with alternate layers of cooked berries and bread, packing down each layer solidly so that the bread will absorb the berry sirup. Do this early in the morning, then cool and chill until serving time. When needed, unmold and serve with plain or whipped cream.

Harmless Spray

The mother of four kiddies in Lowell asks if a certain kind of insecticide, used through a blower, for destroying mosquitoes and flies in the houe, is injurious to the health of her little ones? I can assure her that the spray which she mentions is harmless to human beings or animals, and will not stain the finest fabrics.

It is a clear, clean liquid, with a pleasant odor, and used through a sprayer, a fine, mist-like spray floats in the air just long enough to do its work. Within five minutes the room sprayed will be rid of flies, moths, mosquitoes, roaches, house ants, waterbugs and other household insects.

I sincerely hope that our Lowell sister will use this spray freely, for countless cases of children's diseases are known to have been carried by just these ordinary household pests.

Always use enough Rinso to get creamy lasting suds after the clothes are in

Honest Pride in their fresh clean clothes

—so easy now to keep them spotless!

SCHOOL and party dresses, even everyday rompers and playthings—you love to have them clean and dainty when the children are under the friendly but critical eyes of neighbors.

Today you do not have to pay the price you used to pay for cleanliness—today you can have a snowy wash and still keep your energy, your spirit.

A new kind of laundry soap now saves you the hardest work of wash day, the old constant rubbing.

RINSO is not "just a new soap"—it is an entirely new kind of soap—creamy white in color, fine and made especially to do the family wash more easily than ever. It dissolves quickly and completely in boiling water, and gently penetrates every thread of the clothes with its rich suds.

Famous Manufacturers recommend Rinso for washing their products

MAKERS OF

Wamsutta Sheets
Van Heusen Collars
Boott Toweling
Fruit of the Loom Fabrics

Now the grimiest of play clothes, the meanest of cuff-edges, neckbands or hems need only a light rubbing between your fingers with dry Rinso. This loosens even the deepest hid dirt.

Then good thorough rinsing carries away the loosened dirt and all the soap solution, too. No bits of soap left to stick to your garments.

Women find that the qualities that make Rinso so wonderful in the laundry also make it a fine household soap. "The magic-like way it cleans enameled surfaces," says one; "wonderful for floors and linoleum," says another. "At last something that does not hurt my hands," writes a third. A fourth says, "The most satisfactory thing for washing dishes, pots and pans. I use it, too, on woodwork and for general cleaning."

RINSO is made by the makers of Lux, to do the family wash as wonderfully as Lux does all fine things. Already more than a million packages of Rinso are used every week!

You have surely used Lux with pleasure—then try Rinso, too. With these two soaps all your laundry problems are solved for good! Get a package—regular size or big new size—from your grocer today. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

Ideal for washing machines

Nineteen leading makers endorse Rinso. American Classic, Apex, Bluebird, Coffield, Gainaday, Getz, Haag, Horton, Johnson, Laun-Dry-Ette, Meadows, "1900" Cataract, One Minute, Poole, Ring Vac, Rotarex, Savage, Sunnysuds, Sunbeam, all say, "Use Rinso!"

MORE ROOTERS WILL 'HEAR' SERIES

'Star Reporter of the Air' to Be Picked for Baseball Games

Although the 1924 baseball season is still blooming, plans are already being laid for broadcasting the world series.

This has been a boom year in baseball and it is predicted that the audience of fans that will "attend" the baseball classic by radio will be increased by a number of millions. Broadcasters are determined to make a corresponding advance in the quality of their service.

Inquiries show that only "star reporters of the air" will be chosen to describe the banner sporting event of the year.

Exceptional qualifications and a highly specialized technique, experience has shown, are required for the reporting of baseball games, and capable studio announcers have frequently found themselves at a loss when confronted with the problems of the diamond.

SOLOS HEARD CLEARER THAN QUARTET VOICES

"What causes single voices to come over the radio better than quartets?

Radio fans often have asked this question! The answer is that there is a difference in the frequency of notes of various kinds of voices. Bass frequently is very different from that of the soprano. Due to the fact, when more than one person endeavors to broadcast a song, in the language of the fan, it does not come over as smoothly as it might.

Radio fans listening for quality and not volume know that the high "C" note of a soprano distorts a great deal and that low bass notes are hardly audible. This is very noticeable in quartet singing.

CRYSTALS ARE COMING BACK IN FAVOR

Economy and Absence of Noise Results in Their Ousting Detector Tubes

Crystals are coming back!

They never should have gone away. There was no real reason for dropping crystals in favor of tube detectors, especially after efficient loop sets came in and circuits of the reflex type were perfected. Some of the early sets needed all the power they could get, and this was responsible in many instances for adding a tube which was used as a detector. Crystal detectors gradually waned in popularity.

Now, however, there are unmistakable signs of revival of the popularity of crystals. Their use is based on sound principles. Among the reasons why crystals are recommended are:

The so-called soft tube used as a detector has tube noises. A crystal rectifier has none.

A crystal is cheap; a tube is not.

There is no upkeep cost of a crystal. It consumes no current; a tube does.

No tube gives the clarity and purity of tone of a crystal.

In addition to the fact that early sets needed the extra tube, prejudice against the use of crystals was also aroused by the fact that so many poor crystals were sold. Unscrupulous dealers flooded the market with inferior crystals and the public was stung.

Radio Queries

In building a five-tube neutrodyne, I find difficulty in neutralizing the second stage. What is the trouble? R. K. R.

The trouble may be caused either by magnetic or electrostatic action. Magnetic action is caused when coils are spaced incorrectly or tipped at the wrong angle. Electrostatic trouble results from capacity action between various wires and parts, due to the fact that these wires act like small condensers and pass a certain amount of high frequency from one to the other.

What is meant by a by-pass condenser? T. O. L.

A by-pass condenser is connected in some circuits in parallel with a large inductance, like a telephone or transformer, and is intended to allow high frequency to get through the circuit without having to run through the high inductance at radio frequency.

What value of gridleak is best for a UV-199 tube? MISS J. T. R.

For general purposes a four or five megohm leak will be found most satisfactory, although in some cases a higher value—six or eight megohms—will give slightly better reception of the weak stations.

Why is an ammeter not used for testing storage batteries the same way as for dry cells? M. R. B.

If a storage battery is tested by short circuiting through an ammeter, the current will amount to several hundred amperes. This will be enough to wreck an ordinary ammeter. The best way of testing storage batteries is with a hydrometer.

Some wiring diagrams show a grid leak across an audio transformer. What is the reason for it? S. B. V.

The idea is that if the set howls continuously, such a leak will absorb enough energy to kill the oscillation. The practice is ordinarily not recommended, however.

MOSS, NEGRO TENOR, WILL SING FROM WOR

Frederick Moss, negro tenor and artist, well known throughout the East for his interesting recitals, will broadcast one group of selections from WOR on Aug. 28 as a feature of the afternoon program at the New Jersey station.

Mr. Moss is endowed with a lyric voice of great sweetness and he uses it with considerable skill. His diversified program will be made up of request selections which followed his recent radio concert.

Dancer In Hub

IMOGENE WILSON

Former "Follies" girl involved in row with Frank Tinney, who is to give dancing exhibiton at Beachcroft, Revere, tomorrow.

Partners to dance with Miss Imogene Wilson, former "Follies" star, who is to appear here Wednesday night in a dancing exhibition at the Beachcroft, Revere Beach, will be chosen from popular dancers who happen to be in that dance hall on the night in question.

Miss Wilson is now in Boston and registered at the Copley-Plaza. She recently figured in a court hearing with Frank Tierney, the comedian.

Miss Wilson will appear in dancing exhibitions all over New England, and the practice of choosing dancing partners from those in the hall in which the exhibition is to be held, is to be followed wherever she appears, according to her managers.

OLD METHOD OF WAVE MEASUREMENT DROPPED

The length of a radio wave is its actual physical length. It cannot be measured by an ordinary rule, but something which closely approached one was used in early investigations with stationary waves.

Wires were stretched horizontally, and insulated at both ends. At one end was connected a Leyden jar condenser, so as to allow the wire to oscillate freely when connected to a source of current.

It was discovered that the wire could then sustain a fixed wave of exactly its own length. The nodes and the peaks were experimentally proved by attaching Geissler tubes at various points along the wire.

At the point of maximum they would gradually reduce to zero, repeating the process for the entire wave.

Today, waves are measured either by calibrated instruments or by calculation. The other method has been relegated to the experimental laboratory.

CONTEST BOOMS AT START OF FINAL WEEK

Radio Fans Urged to Remember There Are Two Divisions

Little Northumberland is getting serious now and he hasn't time even to be dumb.

This new contest, coming on top of the scrambled-up puzzles, has his head all awhirl and today he's as gloomy as the head barber in the House of David.

"Northy" has waded through some three thousand puzzle letters and doesn't know now whether he's a rheostat, a highbrow transformer or a plain Democrat.

But that's "Northy" all over. He's grumpy just before he gets his second wind. Then he begins to blow again.

Little more than a week remains in the portable contest and a week is a terribly short time, especially if you're at the beach with a portable set—and perhaps a nice little girl who is easily carried away.

We haven't heard from anybody who got Mars on his portable set yet, but we expect "Northy" to make the claim when he gets 'round to reading last week's papers and discovers that Mars came to call on us—almost.

There are plenty of other stations you can get, however, and the more you get, the nearer you'll come to winning a beautiful prize.

Remember there are two divisions in the contest—the first division winners being selected on a basis of the largest number of stations heard on a portable set in any single evening up to and including September 2. In this group we want to know the selection or announcement heard and the exact time, so a check can be made, also the type of set, if factory built, or specifications and hookup if home-made.

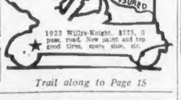

The second group awards will go for reports which have the greatest number of practical wrinkles for the average person who may wish to tote his set with him.

Address: Portable Contest Editor, Boston American.

FIREBUG AROUSES BUZZARD'S BAY

Name of "Miss Boston" to Be Known Tonight

THEY'RE LEADERS IN CHARMING CONTEST

AMONG THE SELECT TWENTY-FIVE

Here are three girls of the twenty-five from whom the judges will select "Miss Boston." They are (at top) Dorothy Campbell of Winthrop; (in centre) Harriet Siegfreida Krauth of Somerville; (below) Ita Marie MacNamara of Dorchester.

JUDGES ARE ON FINAL LIST

Atlantic City Week of Gaiety in Store for Winning Beauty

The identity of the MOST CHARMING girl in Greater Boston will be known tonight.

The young woman selected by the judges in the Boston American's tournament will at once begin preparation for her week's free trip to Atlantic City, with all expenses of self and mother paid by this newspaper.

And what a wonder trip it's going to be! For one full week "Miss Boston," "Queen of the Hub," will revel in all that money can buy. Never will she again experience anything quite so marvelous.

This afternoon the judges begin their work of selecting the winner from a field of twenty-five who had been summoned to appear before them by telegram. Before beginning their labors, the judges agreed they had a big task on their hands.

AT GARO'S STUDIO.

The final selection this afternoon takes place at the studio of John H. Garo, generally known among the profession as "Jack" Garo, No. 739 Boylston street.

It was intended that Mr. Garo, whose studio is the meeting place of leading artists, writers and sculptors, should be one of the judges, but he was called from the city.

Each girl who had been chosen in the preliminary selection of the judges had been notified by telegram to appear in person at the Garo studio at 2 p. m. for final personal inspection.

NOTABLES ARE JUDGES.

In the presence of the CHARMING GIRL editor the judges carefully inspected every photograph submitted.

After long discussion they narrowed the number to 25, of which originals they desired to make personal observation.

The judges are Frederick Wallace, portrait painter of distinction and instructor in Massachusetts Normal Art School; Frank R. Fraperie, editor of "American Photography," one of the leading journals of its kind in the world; Herbert B. Turner, former dean of the Boston Guild of Photographers, former president of Union Camera Club and former president of Boston Society of Arts and Crafts; Richard Andrew, eminent portrait painter and instructor in Massachusetts Normal Art School, and D. Frank Sullivan of Pittsburgh, Pa., connected with the art school of Carnegie Institute. Mr. Sullivan is an artist of unusual ability and is visiting Boston.

25 Girls on Final List in Beauty Competition

The following twenty-five girls will compete in the finals of the Boston American CHARMING GIRL tournament, their photographs having been selected from hundreds by the judges.

These twenty-five girls will meet the judges today at 2 p. m. in the Garo Studio, No. 739 Boylston street for final choice.

At this meeting "Miss Boston" will be chosen. Watch the Boston American for announcement of the winner.

Those from among whom the "Queen of the Hub" will be chosen for that wonder trip to Atlantic City, beginning September 2, follow:

Miss Bertha H. Anderson, nineteen years, stenographer, Nantasket Hotel, Nantasket.

Miss Margaret Burke, Ginter Grocery Company, Boston.

Miss Dorothy Campbell, nineteen years, stenographer, No. 25 Birch road, Winthrop.

Miss Florence Cathcart, eighteen years, No. 157 Willis avenue, Medford.

Miss Irena Chazadaieff, No. 11 Boardman avenue, Melrose Highlands.

Miss Ida Davis, sixteen years, student, No. 88 Pearl street, Cambridge.

Miss Mabel Dettocher, twenty years, hairdresser, No. 467 Audubon road, Boston, Suite No. 11.

Miss Dolly DeMuth, eighteen years, at home, No. 14 Julian street, Roxbury.

Miss Helen Dodge, seventeen years, cashier, No. 69 Rutledge road, Mattapan.

Miss Betty Dunnain, No. 402 Boylston street, Brookline.

Miss Ursula Ellis, sixteen years, student, No. 8 May street, Salem.

Miss Eleanor Hill, No. 107 Murdock street, Brighton.

Miss Harriet S. Krauth, seventeen years, student, No. 15 Warner street, Somerville.

Miss Ita M. MacNamara, nineteen years, No. 370 Bowdoin street, Dorchester.

Miss Dorothy M. Nourse, sixteen years, student, No. 3 Copeland street, Roxbury.

Miss Marion Mooney, No. 29 Brainerd road, Allston.

Miss Peggy Morise, nineteen years, at home, No. 7 Crescent avenue, East Braintree.

Miss Grace Moulton, twenty-one years, at home, No. 56 Pearl street, Cambridge.

Miss Myrtle Prendergast, twenty-three years, teacher, No. 31 Queensberry street, Boston.

Miss Genevieve E. Roche, telephone operator, No. 25 Telegraph street, South Boston.

Miss Violette Snow, eighteen years, student, No. 32 Worcester square, Boston.

Miss Muriel Thayer, twenty-one years, at home, No. 1234 Commonwealth avenue, Allston.

Miss Phyllis L. Wolfe, eighteen years, No. 20 Stearns avenue, Medford.

Miss Dora Woolard, twenty-two years, at home, No. 38 University road, Brookline.

Miss Mildred M. Yore, eighteen years, at home, No. 78 Carolina avenue, Jamaica Plain.

FIREBUG ON BUZZARD'S BAY SHORE

Cottagers Aroused by Burning of Wareham School and Old Mill

Summer colonists on Buzzards Bay have been aroused by a firebug whose work on two successive nights has threatened to destroy cottages at Swift's and Hamilton Beaches.

Fire of an incendiary origin destroyed the Wareham District school house on the Swift's Beach road, and only quick work on the part of the Wareham fire department prevented the flames from spreading to the adjacent woods.

On Saturday night an abandoned sawmill in the woods a short distance from the Swift's Beach colony was fired, the flames spreading to the woods before the alarm was given. Summer residents aided the firemen in battling the flames.

Flames believed had the flames gone undiscovered an hour longer they would have swept the shore to Marion with a stiff northeast breeze behind them.

Another attempt was made by the firebug on the amusement parlors owned by E. C. Booth. He failed to gain entrance to the building and all soaked waste was discovered outside.

Police believe the fires the work of more than one man and unusual precautions are being taken to prevent a disaster among the group of 150 or more frame cottages in the vicinity.

NORTH END SHOOTING AND WITNESSES

VICTIM OF GAMING QUARREL IS DYING

Photo-diagram, according to police and witnesses, shows how Alphonso Vecchi was shot down by Sabino Armedeo in Henchman street, North End, in a quarrel over a game of "toquo," or finger counting. Above, Mrs. Alphonso Vecchi, wife of the dying man, and, inset, Miss Lucy Fonte, who witnesses the shooting.

WILL HUNT INVOLVES $175,000

Nashua Woman to Lose Bequest if Will Is Not Discovered

Nashua, N. H., Aug. 25.—Unless the will of Dr. Frank E. Sprague is found, cousins and other more distant relatives will come into a fortune of $175,000.

The doctor's office safe, his desk and his room have been thoroughly searched, but no trace of the missing will have been found although those close to him believe that such a document is in existence.

Dr. Sprague, a graduate of Harvard Dental School, made his home with Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Stetson forty-two years ago. It never married and frequently during his residence at the Stetson home it be said, in connection with Mrs. Stetson that the one who would first be summoned by death would leave his property to the other.

Mrs. Stetson has had friends that many times this mutual arrangement was discussed, the last time being only a short time before the doctor's body was found in a cold bear skin house, where death occurred as the result of a stroke.

Following the funeral of Dr. Sprague search was made for the will, but the document could not be located.

The nearest relatives are two aged cousins, Mrs. Ada Sprague Exley of Hudson and Mrs. Charles E. Loud of Portsmouth. Dr. had two second cousins in Nashua, George W. Bonnelle and Mrs. Leonard H. Lewis, brother and sister, both of Cross street. He rarely communicated with his relatives.

14 Hurt in Bus Upset

New York, Aug. 25.—Fourteen persons were hurt, two of them seriously, when the motor bus in which they were riding overturned in Brooklyn near Coney Island.

DRUNK, NOT FIT TO DRIVE CAR, GOES TO SLEEP

James E. Flair of No. 33 Porter road, Cambridge, in Cambridge District Court today told a novel story when charged with operating an automobile while under the influence of intoxicants.

"I knew I was drunk, your honor," he told Judge Stone, "and that I was not fit to drive a car. So I drove up a sidestreet off Massachusetts avenue, stopped the car and went to sleep."

He was given a minimum fine of $20.

Henry A. Norgansen of Fairview avenue, Cambridge, on the same charge, was sentenced to thirty days.

There were fifty-two drunks in the Cambridge court today, a record breaking number, exceeding pre-prohibition week-ends.

In the same court Wilson Allston of No. 116 Broadway, Cambridge, who was arrested while carrying a number of bottles containing a fluid resembling milk, was charged with keeping and exposing liquor for sale.

The police said the alleged milk was "white mule." His case was continued.

THREE ARRESTED AFTER WRECK OF STOLEN AUTO

A stolen automobile, with stolen wine and stolen gasoline, crashed into a telegraph pole in Newton and was demolished, but the occupants, three young men, escaped injury.

The boys were arrested. They were: John Angivenni, seventeen years old, of No. 65 Columbia street, Newton; Christopher Carr, nineteen, of No. 1194 Walnut street, Newton, and [illegible] Terrio, nineteen, of No. 32 Thurston street, Newton. Carr was [illegible] owner of the wine was fined $50. Angivenni and Terrio were charged with breaking and entering in the night time and were held for the Grand Jury. The car was the property of Floriano [illegible], one of No. 41 Chandler place, Newton.

CANADIAN RESERVE OF GOLD HAS DECREASED

Ottawa, Aug. 25.—Gold held on July 31 by the Minister of Finance totalled $100,409,918 or nearly $24,000,000 less than on June 30 last. The gold reserve held on July 31 against savings banks deposits was $2,357,497 or 10 per cent. on $23,576,971. Circulation of dominion notes increased half a million dollars during July, after a drop in June of about six millions.

UNITED STATES LINES CUT DOWN IN POLAND

Warsaw, Aug. 25.—The United States Lines are closing their five provincial offices in Poland and are reducing the personnel of their headquarters here on September 1. The reason for the curtailment in the Polish services is announced to be the reduction of the Polish immigration quota to the United States from 25,000 to 5,000.

Miss Lowden Engaged

Chicago, Aug. 25.—Friends here have received word that former Governor and Mrs. Frank O. Lowden of Illinois today at their Thousand Islands villa will announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Frances, to John B. Drake, Jr., son of John B. Drake, one of the owners of the Drake and Blackstone hotels here.

RARE BOOKS BROUGHT OVER BY GERMAN DOCTOR

New York, Aug. 25.—A collection of fifty books dealing with the first accounts of the discovery of America were brought on the Albert Ballin by Dr. Otto Vollbehr of Germany, who will submit them as possible additions to the New York Public Library or the Congressional Library in Washington.

The rarest object in the collection of Dr. Vollbehr, he said, is a manuscript report to King Ferdinand of Spain by the lawyer of Columbus, setting forth his discoveries in the new world.

10 DIE, 9 HURT, AS TORNADO RAZES CHURCH

New Orleans, Aug. 25.—Ten persons were killed and nine injured when a tornado demolished the St. Phillip's Church at Patricks, La., 40 miles from here.

The victims were early arrivals at a church festival. When the tornado appeared with the brewing storm the crowd took refuge in the old church which was to be replaced for a new church erected nearby.

HEAVY RAINFALL RUINS BELGIAN GRAIN CROPS

Brussels, Aug. 25.—Rain which recently has been pouring down relentlessly over Belgium is described today as almost a disaster for Belgian wheat and oats, particularly as the wheat crop is certain to be short, statistics of the Ministry of Agriculture having shown the sowing this year to be only one-fourth of what it was in 1922. Belgian farmers have turned from grain to sugar beets and other export crops.

LARGE SECTION OF CHINA TRANSFORMESD INTO LAKE

Pekin, Aug. 25 (A.P.).—The entire region between Paotingfu and Tientsin and northward to the Wean Dyke has been converted into a great lake, according to O. G. Todd, an engineer in the employ of the International famine relief committee, who returned today from a trip of investigation.

Crops in this region have been destroyed by the flood waters, he reported. The hemp, which was ready to harvest, is covered with six to ten feet of water and is being salvaged by divers.

MOUNT SHASTA'S RIVER OF MUD FLOWING FREELY

McCloud, Cal., Aug. 25.—With the return of warmer weather the last few days Mount Shasta's river of mud again is increased in volume and pouring down Mud Creek canyon.

It is depositing boulders weighing tons on the sandy plains surrounding this small lumber center.

A new channel has been cut by the flow, which has obliterated all traces of the forest service road to the nursery formerly owned by the government for 200 yards.

TULLY HOPES TO REOPEN 'BIRD OF PARADISE' SUIT

Los Gatos, Cal., Aug. 25.—Richard Walton Tully, here seeking evidence to reopen the $500,000 suit involving the authorship of the "Bird of Paradise," in which he recently lost, hested a New York process server in a thrilling auto chase. It was learned today. Tully has succeeded in securing several affidavits which assert he was in San Francisco and Los Gatos in April, 1910, instead of Los Angeles as claimed during the trial of the suit and hopes to have the case reopened.

NORTH END MAN GAMING ROW DYING AFTER

A game of "toquo" or finger counting sent Alphonso Vecchi, thirty-one years of age, of No. 16 Henchman street, North End, to the Haymarket Relief Hospital, dying of a bullet wound through his back, while Sabino Armedeo, forty-two years old, of No. 19 Tileston street, is held for the shooting.

The men were engaged in the game of "toquo," played by rounting concealed fingers of the players when an argument broke out. According to the version of the trouble given the police, Vecchi slapped Armedeo across the cheek when the argument waxed warm and Armedeo immediately hurried to his home.

He returned, encountered Vecchi just outside his home and when the argument was renewed the shooting occurred, Armedeo, it is alleged, shooting his former friend through the back, the bullet passing through a lung.

The police question Mrs. Alphonse Vecchi, wife of the wounded man, and Lucy Fonte, who is alleged to have witnessed the shooting.

Armedeo was held in $10,000 bail and the case was continued until September 11, when he appeared before Judge Burke of the Municipal Court today.

FULLER AND WIFE GUESTS AT VINEYARD CAMP MEET

Oak Bluffs, Aug. 25.—Lieutenant Governor Alvan T. Fuller was the guest of honor at the nineteenth annual Governor's Day celebration of the Marthas Vineyard Camp Meeting Association here today.

Headed by State and local police, a parade escorted the Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Fuller to the hotel, where a luncheon was tendered them.

SERIES WITH RED SOX THIS WEEK TO MAKE OR BREAK TYGERS

COBBMEN OPEN HERE TODAY

By NICK FLATLEY

Ty Cobb is likely to find out shortly whether his Tigers can be champions of the American League. He's likely to find it out at Fenway Park in the next few days where the Detroiters take on the rejuvenated Red Sox in the final series for the two clubs in the East. Time was not so long ago when Ty would have considered this series as just a boost for his ball club, but things are different just now.

The latest wild surge of the Red Sox was more than just a spasm. The club gathered the same impetus it had in the Spring drive, and will probably keep rolling along victoriously for quite a while. The Fenway athletes have the spirit back, have nothing to get worried about, and consequently are very likely to topple the teams that are tense and strained in a long, tough race.

CONFIDENT, BUT WARY.

Ty is cocky and confident, being Ty, but he isn't predicting any pennants. He just expects to win a lot of ball games, take it from him, and hopes for the best. The Tigers, without Blue at first base, have been holding their own with the other leaders. They have just gathered the long end of a New York series. So naturally they feel the pennant urge strongly.

The club, which has good pitchers and plenty of them, is only two and a half games from the altic, not much of a gap when you stop to think that there are 35 games still to be played. After the series here, the Detroit outfit goes home, and finishes up on the native orchard, which is a great advantage.

"I am not winning any pennants yet" explains Mr. Cobb, who is celebrating his 18th year in the large show by hitting .345. "I have a new ball club and a young one. Some of my pitchers aren't as good as they're going to be, and all the boys have had a tough season. We haven't had our regulars all in there half the time. We have managed to stay up, and expect to do that right down to the finish. If the others slip, we may slide in, but just at present, we're trying to win a ball game every day and let it go at that."

OTHERS CATCH SPIRIT.

Tyrus, who was generally rated as entirely too temperamental to ever get anywhere as a manager, has crossed up that idea completely. He isn't a gentle boss, but his gang knows that his explosions are all for the good of the cause. And his fighting spirit has been infectious. The club seems as well fortified in that particular way as any contender, and the courage and stamina will play a big part in the final dash, which you might see is starting now.

If our Red Sox keep up their swatting and get the kind of pitching they got last week, the Westerners will pass out of this American League race. But if they can drop the Sox, they will be able to go home, and take on all comers with perhaps a little better than an even chance for the big glory.

Our Sox won five games out of six last week. They started off by ruining the pennant hopes of the St. Louis Browns, and then won three in a row from the Indians before getting licked. They have a chance to get into fifth place, which will make them all heroes, and they'll be striving for that.

All in all, the next few days loom up like the best baseball occasion Boston has had lined up in a more or less busy season.

MICHIGAN DECIDES TRAP CHAMPIONSHIPS

The 1924 State Tournament of the Michigan League of Gun Clubs was held over the traps of the Pastime Gun Club, Detroit, with 136 trapshooters registering the first day. R. C. Miller of Lansing, won the state single target championship when he dropped but one out of the 200 clays thrown, was high on all targets and copped the all-round title. Karl Maust, a Detroit amateur, was runner-up in the singles, scoring 196. G. H. Slaughter, Benton Harbor, won the state doubles when on a score of 47 out of 25 pairs, and H. F. Bopp, Lansing, won the handicap by breaking 98x100 from the 21-yard line. Mrs. Newton Root, Kalamazoo, was the women's champion on 168x200. J. H. Wertley, Hamburg, Pa., won the Detroit Consolation event breaking 99x100. H. W. Benson came through for the professional title. The 1925 tourney will be held at Lansing.

Michigan expects to be well represented when the Amateur Trapshooting Association of America holds the 1924 Grand American over 4 new traps at Dayton, O., August 25-30.

Moe and Joe They Get the Dough---Sometimes

Moe was slipped another vacation Saturday. He favored Wilderness but the flounder did not like the going and spent the afternoon boosting his boss's feed bill. Today Moe is slapping his coin on one that Charlie Cella of St. Louis slipped him. Let's hope his dope is right. The bank roll now amounts to $8,855.21.

BRAVES TO TRY TO RECOVER TODAY

Cincinnati, Aug. 25.—Still reeling from the double defeat handed them yesterday by the Reds, the Braves will attempt to recoup their fortunes today.

Jess Barnes and Joe Genewich simply were not equal to the task of taming the Cincys, being touched for 27 safe blows during the two contests. That was more than enough to give the Reds two ball games, as Tom Sheehan and a rookie named Pedro Dibut, who was making his debut, were hurling high-class ball. The scores were 9—0 and 8—2.

MORAN'S INJURY UPHELD BY LOCAL DOCTOR

New Haven, Ct., Aug. 25.—Pal Moran of New Orleans is suffering from a torn ligament and partial dislocation at the base of his thumb, as a result of his nine-round encounter with Kid Kaplan of Meriden, in Hamden, according to Dr. Charles P. DeFoe, who attended him. The fight was stopped and a decision awarded to Kaplan, it being claimed that Moran was not doing his best.

Thomas Donahue, of the State Athletic Commission, who ordered the bout awarded to Kaplan, announced today that a special meeting of the State Commission had been called for September 8 to investigate the affair. The purse money has been withheld by order of the commission pending the investigation.

COMPILES SCORES FOR EIGHTEEN YEARS

Bernard Elsesser, a York, Pa., trapshooting enthusiast, has been compiling scores for the past eighteen years at the Grand American Championship trapshooting contests. He will officiate again at the 1924 tournament, to be held in Dayton August 25 to 30 at the new location of the Amateur Trapshooting Association.

GIBBONS AND TUNNEY BOUT FOR NOV. 21

By THOMAS L. CUMMISKEY.

New York, Aug. 25.—Tommy Gibbons of St. Paul and Gene Tunney of New York have been matched to fight. This boxing plum, which has been hanging on the most desirable fistic tree, so to speak, for a couple of years, was obtained by Promoter Tex Rickard today.

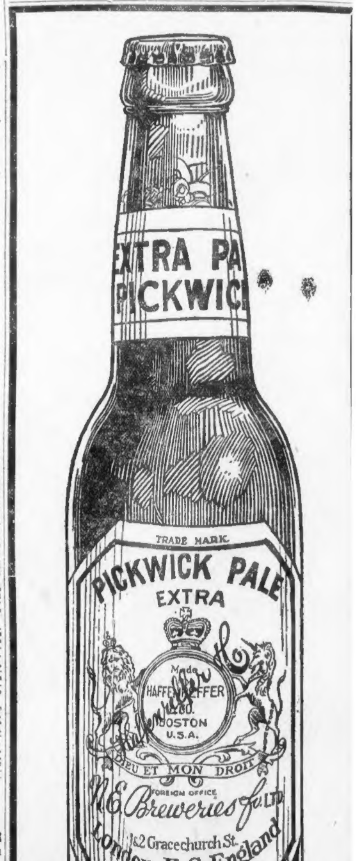

They will fight in Madison Square Garden on November 21, according to the agreement reached today by Matchmaker Frank Flournoy, Eddie Kane, manager of Gibbons, and Bill Gibson, manager of Tunney. The bout, of course, will be for Tunney's American light-heavyweight title.

Kane signed for Gibbons, who was unable to get around to the Garden. He accepted the terms offered over the telephone and agree to sign it today.

Both principals would have preferred to fight in an outdoor arena, particularly as the bout is sure to attract great interest, but there is such a crush of big bouts on the lists that they were finally induced to agree on the Garden.

It is believed likely that the prices will be so scaled that the 15,000 capacity of the Garden, virtually certain to be sold out, will bring a $200,000 gate.

Boxing fans in general have often expressed the desire to see these two topnotchers matched.

NOYES ENROLS IN THE 'PLAY SAFE' CLUB

"I am glad to be enrolled as a member of the 'I Play Safe' club of the Boston American and will do all in my power to see that as many of the driving public as possible become members," said John H. L. Noyes, chairman of the Boston Street Commissioners, in commending the campaign of this newspaper to lessen accidents.

"I desire to thank the American for what it is doing in helping make the roads of the state safe for motorists and pedestrians," he added.

"There is no subject which concerns the American public today more than the so-called traffic problem with which every city and town in this country has been contending since automobile manufacture and distribution has become so prolific.

"As chairman of the Board of Street Commissioners, which has more direct interest in this problem than any other municipal department, it gives me great pleasure to endorse the "I Play Safe Club" of the Boston American and to co-operate with them as fully as possible. I subscribe to all the articles of the pledge of this organization, and have taken the necessary steps to see that every person having business with this department will be invited and urged to join.

STATE CONVENTIONS IN WORCESTER SAME DAY

Worcester, Aug. 25.—The Democratic State Convention will be held in Worcester on September 20, the same day the Republican State Convention is held here according to an announcement made by Robert R. Portle, chairman of the Democratic City Committee. Although the two parties have frequently held conventions on the same day it will be the first time in the memory of party leaders that both have met in the same city on the same day. Republicans have not had a State convention here in ten years and the last Democratic State Convention held here was in 1918.

$15,000 IN HEART BALM ASKED BY ATHOL WOMAN

Athol, Aug. 25.—Mrs. Mary L. MacDonald, 35, of this city, has filed a suit charging breach of promise against Edward J. Johnson, 28, of Orange, and asks for 10,000 damages through his failure to marry her. The suit is returnable in the Superior Court next month. She alleges that Johnson courted her for seven years, during a time when she was married but estranged from her husband; that through his pleadings she obtained a divorce from her husband, but that now Johnson refuses to marry her and is keeping company with another woman.

JACKIE COOGAN PARADE IN HUB TOMORROW

State and city departments are co-operating to make the visit of Jackie Coogan to Boston tomorrow a demonstration of welcome to the little star and appreciation of his effort to fill a ship with food, which he will personally deliver to the orphanages of the Near East Relief in the Holy Land.

Jackie will appear at the Parkman bandstand at 12 and 2 o'clock.

Lieuteant-overnor Alvan T Fuller and his son, Alvan, Jr., together with Paul Curley, the Mayor's son and a representative of the Mayor's office, will meet Jackie at the South Station on his arrival at 10 A. M.

Preceded by a uniformed boys' band, the Coogan party in twelve touring cars and accompanied by 200 Boy Scouts will parade by way of Summer, Winter, Tremont and Park streets to the State House, to meet Governor Cox at 10:15.

The march will be resumed down Beacon to School street, where Mayor Curley will present Jackie with the key to the city at 10:30. Then by way of School, Washington, Water, Devonshire streets, to Winthrop Square, where Jackie will visit the office of the Boston American at 10:40; to Summer, to Washington, to Milk, to Newspaper Row, to Court, to Tremont, to Boylston to Copley Square to the Copley-Plaza Hotel.

After luncheon Jackie will proceed via Dartmouth Beacon, Park and Tremont streets to the Parkman bandstand on the Common for his big public appearance of the day.

The Kiwanis Club luncheon to be held at the Copley Plaza Hotel, tomorrow noon at 12:15 will be broadcast by Station WNAC, The Shepard Stores. The luncheon is given to Jackie Coogan.

Arrangements had been made with Jackie's managers, for Station WBZ to have charge of the arrangements here in Boston and through their courtesy station WNAC is offering their radio audience an opportunity to hear this talented youngster in his appeal for the Near East relief.

It will be an interesting and unusual broadcast and will pay all radio fans to listen in at that time.

PREMIER MacDONALD'S SONS TO DEBATE IN U. S.

London, Aug. 25.—Premier MacDonald's sons, Alister and Malcolm, who sailed from Liverpool, will participate in the Oxford Union debating tour in Canada and the United States. Thirty-five debates have been arranged.

Bonus Questions Answered

Questions concerning the world war bonus are answered daily in this column. If you are unable to call personally at the bonus information bureau at No. 92 Summer street, mail your inquiry.

Answers are based on the most authoritative information available. However, no full legal interpretation of the bonus act has been issued.

A. S. L., HAVERHILL.

Q.—My brother served in the army from October 6, 1917, to July 4, 1919, and has since died. He left a wife and one child, but his wife has since remarried. Who is entitled to the benefits of the bonus, wife or child? Who is responsible for funeral expenses, his wife or mother, and can the amount to be received under the bonus law be drawn for funeral expenses?

A.—Your brother's wife having remarried since his death, is barred from receiving the benefits under the bonus law. His child, if under 18 years of age at the time of his death, will be entitled to receive the benefits. The funeral expenses, of course, are payable out of whatever property the veteran left, unless his mother or wife personally contracted to pay them. Payments under the bonus law to the child will not start until some time after March, 1925, and will be in ten equal quarter instalments. The child, if still under 21 years of age, must have a guardian appointed in order to make application for the bonus, and the child is not obliged to use such payments to pay the funeral expenses. Creditors cannot attach any sums that may be due under the law.

DR. T. H. V., QUINCY.

Q.—I entered the Army on January 7, 1918, as a First Lieutenant in the Dental Corps, with a permanent commission in the regular army. Does the fact that I entered the army after April, 1916, entitle me to an adjusted compensation?

A.—The bonus law provides that no credit shall be allowed for the period of service by an individual holding a permanent or provisional commission. Entry into the service after 1916 would have no affect upon your right to receive the compensation, if you were otherwise eligible. The adjusted service credit is allowed for active service between April 5, 1917, and July 1, 1919. If you are in doubt as to your eligibility to receive the bonus, fill out an application and send it to Washington, where that question will be determined.

J. F. H. B., EAST DEDHAM.

Q.—I served in the U. S. Navy from December 15, 1915, to December 16, 1919, and received an honorable discharge. I reenlisted in 1921 and received a bad conduct discharge. Does that bar me from receiving the bonus.

A.—Whether a bad conduct discharge will bar you from receiving the benefits of the bonus law is a question to be decided by the Bonus officials in Washington after you have filed an application.

MRS. H. R., LYNN.

Q.—I am the widow of a veteran who enlisted August 1, 1918, and was discharged July 11, 1919, with overseas service from November 4, 1918, to July 8, 1919. Am I entitled to the Bonus, and how much will I get?

A.—If you have not remarried since the death of your husband you will be entitled to receive the benefits of the Bonus law. You will be entitled to approximately $335 payable after March, 1925 in ten equal quarterly instalments.

A. J. G., SPRINGFIELD.

Q.—I enlisted in the army June 7, 1917, and was discharged February 7th, 1919, and had 15 months of overseas service. How much will I get as a bonus?

A.—Your bonus will be in the form of a 20-year paid-up insurance policy with an approximate face value of $1,000.

MARS THEORIES CONFIRMED BY OBSERVERS

Flagstaff, Ariz., Aug. 25 (Universal).—The net result of the recent observations of Mars by scientists at Lowell Observatory, at its nearest opposition, will be the verification and proving up of several former theories in regard to that planet. Absolutely nothing new has developed or is expected, it was said.

The visibility was good in the last twenty-four hours, the steam or vapor clouds which have been hanging over Mars part of the time last week have disappeared, giving the scientists a clear view. The clouds are supposed to denote an unusually warm spell of a few days, causing the rapid melting of snows on the northern and southern hemisphere.

Exhaustive photographic and visual examinations affirm the theory that Mars has a day and night, and four seasons, much the same as the earth. There is an atmosphere containing water vapor, carbonic acid and oxygen in quantity and quality sufficient to sustain life of some kind.

While there is practical proof that vegetation exists over a considerable portion of Mars' surface, great areas appear to denote desert space.

8 PERSONS INJURED WHEN AUTO OVERTURNS

Three persons suffered severe injuries and five others were less seriously hurt when their automobile overturned on Essex street, Beverly, near the entrance to the Athletic field. Miss Helen Carbone, 20, of No. 208½ Rantoul street, Beverly, Francis Casale, 19, of No. 6 Winter street, Beverly, and Miss Ina Guerrio, 22, of No. 60 Bridge street, Salem, were taken to the Beverly Hospital, where their names were placed on the danger list.

The others injured were Rosolo Dargo, 20, of DeKalb, Ill., Lena Carbone, 18, and Henry Carbone, 16, both of No. 208½ Rantoul street, Romolo Draeo, 20, of DeKalb, and Spencer Swanscum, also of DeKalb. They were treated at the Beverly Hospital for various hurts.

BOBBIE AND HIS PA

I SEE there is a Waive of Prosperity beeginning to sweap over the nashun, sed Ma last nite.

So I heer, sed Pa, but I ain't been drowned by it yet.

Oh, you do not need to Quaik in yure shoes, sed Ma, I wassent going to ask you for a check.

Who in the wurld is Quaiking? sed Pa. I guess I cud rite you a lot of checks without Quaiking, sed Pa. But I sed that I havent been suffykated by no Waive of Prosperity, sed Pa.

You will be, tho, sed Ma. It is cumming. Times is better than they have been for sum time, sed Ma.

I guess times are a little better, at that, sed Pa. Old Joe Carrington slipped me a ten wich he has owed me for seven years, sed Pa.

Fifty-fifty, deerest, sed Ma, you know, fifty-fifty.

All rite, sed Pa, here is five. I suppose I shud have kept my trap closed about that ten, sed Pa, like what many another husband wud of done in my place, sed Pa.

It is pritty hard for you to keep yure trap closed, deer, sed Ma.

I was glad old Joe remembered that ten, sed Pa, because I had forgot all about it. Most peepul is pritty good down under, sed Pa.

Yes, I beleeve they are, sed Ma. I hoap sum moar of yure old frends come acrost with long forgotten loans, sed Ma. It is reefreshing to find so many honest peepul, sed Ma. I wish he had owed you one hundred dollars instead of ten, sed Ma.

Why? sed Pa.

Why, sed Ma, then I wud now be holding fifty dollers in my right hand insted of five, sed Ma.

Bobbie, sed Pa, did you evver notis how much wimmen worship the Golding Calf, sed Pa.

No, I sed, you can leevve me out of this, I sed.

Out of what? sed Pa.

This talk about wimmen & munny, I sed. I nevver seen it fail, I sed, that when you and Ma git to speeking of munny it ends up in a Jam, I sed. I doan't want no part of it, I sed.

That is not vary good grammer, Bobbie, sed Pa, but like lots of poor grammer it is pritty good sense, sed Pa.

Bobby does not like to think that wimmen worship munny, sed Ma. I am a woman & I care vary littel for munny & Bobbie knows it, doant you, Bobbie?

You can leeve me out of this, I sed aggenn.

& then Ma and Pa both laffed.

Bobbie is pritty cagey, sed Pa.

I doant know what cagey is unless Pa ment I am a bird. I will now close.

Will you ask some kind lady to give me a few pieces of cloth to make clothes for my dolls. I have to go to the hospital to see the doctor today, but I try to be cheerful and will be happy to receive the cloth. MARGARET M. G.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. F. X. Mahoney
Boston Health Commissioner.

BANANAS are comparatively cheap and probably have a larger food value than any other fruit now available through our markets.

Dr. F. X. Mahoney

When fresh they contain from 18 to 23 per cent. of carbohydrates, which is very much more than is contained in the potato.

Many people do not know that bananas make a delicious dish when fried in abundant fat until they are crisp like French fried potatoes. They make a very attractive dish when fried this way, either in discs made by cutting the banana crosswise or in strips made by splitting them lengthwise. The only objection that I have ever heard to bananas prepared in this way is that they are too sweet. In the sweetness of the banana, however, exists their chief nutritive value — the sweetness consisting of sugar.

An average sized ripe banana contains albumen, fat and starches which, together, make in all about fifty-five calories of heat.

The dried banana represents about sixteen hundred calories to the pound.

The unripe banana is dried and converted into a flour which contains as much as eighty per cent. of starches and sugars and is, therefore, highly nutritious. It is very attractive when served in cream or in whole milk and as such it is one of the most valuable adjuncts to infant diet.

In the French colonies of Africa and in Cochin-China the banana is prepared in the form of a thick soup and is given as a remedy in severe and prolonged diarrhoea. It proved valuable as a substitute for milk, which in some sections of those countries is unobtainable. As a remedy given in this way, it acts like milk by disinfecting the intestines through the formation of lactic acid.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Please tell me the cause of hives and what can be done to prevent them? J. N. G.

Hives are usually a local manifestation of some intestinal disorder, usually brought about by indiscretion in eating.

Please tell me if a nervous and rapid pulse is dangerous?

MRS. H. C., New Bedford.

It depends upon the cause of the rapid pulse and nervous heart whether or not it is dangerous. Suggest you have the condition of your thyroid gland looked into.

Have had a nervous breakdown and now have lumps in my throat and various other symptoms. What can I do?

C. H. M., Newburyport.

I would advise that you go to the Massachusetts General Hospital and have a gastro-intestinal X-Ray taken. Also it would be advisable to have your blood and spinal fluid examined.

FINANCE

—By George Wheeler Hinman—

Is the present work of the American commissioner in London a "bull argument" for American business and American stocks?

If the $200,000,000 German loan goes through, and then the billion more of German industrial loans be made, and if by means of these American subsidies to foreign industries, German and French and English producers are enabled to make more goods and sell them to other countries, will these developments boom American trade, increase American profits, guarantee employment to American labor, and in general create the abundant prosperity which makes and maintains high prices on stock exchanges?

The American plan for subsidizing European business is still only a plan. But now its approval seems certain, these questions are asked with growing frequency. They have been asked every day for the last week and the answers have begun to appear in print.

"France has begun preparations to meet the keener competition in foreign trade that is expected to follow the London agreement," says a dispatch from Paris.

"Business men in France," says the same dispatch, "realize that a great international contest for trade is about to begin."

"We will feel German competition severely as the details of the Dawes plan are carried out and Germany is enabled to function in foreign fields as before the war." These are the words of a New York industrialist.

"We have had our own way now for several years," he added. "We have built up new markets, where Germany and England and France no longer could supply the goods. They are about to come back and, if possible, take from us the foreign trade that we have gained in South America and Asia since 1914. That is the idea. That is what the manufacturer now foresees and what other manufacturers in the middle West are now foreseeing.

All of which, in plain language, comes to one thing: That if we carry out the present plan to subsidize Europe's business with our money, we must be prepared to have Europe use the subsidies to fight us in the foreign markets where we sell most of our exported goods.

That surely is no "bull argument." The only good it is that the warfare to be waged on our foreign trade cannot begin until we provide the money with which to begin it. Notably the money for the German industries. And the floating of the industrial loans if they are ever to be floated, is still many months off.

But suppose the loans be floated, and the European industries are revived with our money and the assaults on our foreign markets are made, what sort of condition shall we be in to resist them? In a great many respects, we are in good condition.

"But we have one great disadvantage," said on Saturday a middle western manufacturer who has just come back from Europe. "The English are stripped for action and, with all their political troubles, can make a hard fight. France is in the best shape she ever has been in. Outside of her government finances, she has nothing but prosperity. As for Germany, everybody must guess for himself what she can and will do if financed with American money.

"But the United States is not in such good fighting condition; this country is so very rich, so very fat, so big at the girth, so pleasure loving! We live too easily, we live on a high level of wages and prices and comforts and luxuries. We can pay the wages and get the prices in our own market. That is sure. But, when the competition comes in foreign markets, can we get down to business, slough off our present habits and win out? That is the question."

That is no "bull argument," either.

As already suggested, the only encouraging fact in this connection is that the actual lending of the money, if it be lent, and the actual subsidizing of our industrial competitors, if we insist on subsidizing them, are so far off that they need not be reckoned with just now. In fact, the writer doubts that they are to be reckoned with seriously this side of the November election.

(B. C. Forbes, now studying conditions in Europe at first hand for the benefit of Boston American readers will resumt writing his regular column in September.)

OPTIMISM IN TRADE CIRCLES STILL HOLDS

New England Building Heavy; Hub Receives Big Belgian Brick Cargo

By FRANK H. MELOON
Financial Editor

Continued improvement in trade conditions, both retail and manufacturing, can be said to have marked the past week.

The better sentiment as to future business which was made evident along in mid-July still holds. That the recession of business has been checked in nearly all directions is increasingly made known, as reports pour in from the various industries.

J. M. Van Sweringen preserves his customary silence at the time of this writing, but it becomes more and more plain, as time goes on that big events in the railway world, looking to the better handling of business in New England and the rest of the country, are at hand.

J. Van Sweringen

The first real transcontinental railroad system would be indeed in sight if the reports are true that we hear about the plans of Van Sweringen interests, a step in which would be the linking up of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul with the proposed greater "Nickel Plate."

PLENTY OF BUILDING.

Building construction in Boston and the rest of New England during the week past has held its own very well, compared with figures given out for the like week a year ago. There is a steady volume of heavy building material moving.

With the home brick industry working at high speed, the past week has seen the landing in Boston of the largest cargo of Belgian brick ever received here. For a time when foreign building materials have been received here in what might be considered large volume in proportion to the needs of the day we have to go far back in history.

We have to get back to the time when Sir William Pepperell, who took Louisburg from the French, sent materials by sailing ship over to England, where they were cut up into the first "portable house" on record and brought back to Kittery, Me., then a part of Massachusetts, and erected into a mansion as a wedding gift to his daughter. This is the Sparhawk Mansion, still standing as a sight for Summer visitors at Kittery, one of the big attractions offered by "Hotel New England."

Quotations on lime and hair for building have stiffened. Spruce lumber is more active.

GOOD SHOE ORDERS.

Shoe manufacturers are receiving good orders, and the rate of activity has been somewhat increased generally in this line. Lynn reports an average of 80 per cent. capacity, several Brockton factories are running full time, and Haverhill finds the situation improved.

Chemicals and dyestuffs are quiet. Trade in lightweight woolens has been decidedly stimulated by price cutting. Cotton goods market is better. More mills have renewed operations.

Massachusetts Department of Labor and Industries, in report covering 854 manufacturing establishments in thirty-six principal industries in State for July, shows that 67.97 per cent. of plants were operating either below full capacity or below full time or both. Only 28 per cent. were running to full capacity and time and 4.3 per cent. of the plants were idle. Compared with June there were decreases in number employed in twenty-two of the thirty-six industries. There was an increase of 4-5 of 1 per cent. in weekly salaries of employes in the 854 plants.

CURTIN AND GORDON TO BATTLE AT RIDGEWOOD

"Irish" Johnny Curtin, Jersey City's premier bantamweight, fully recovered from the illness which prevented him from meeting Frankie Albano at the Ridgewood Grove S. C. last week, has signed to meet Jackie Gordon, the East Side Flash, in the stellar event of six rounds at the same club next Saturday night.

The match is the result of Gordon's persistent challenging of the crack Skeeter scrapper. Jackie has been coming along fast of late, registering twenty-two consecutive victories over such men as Tommy Lynch, Johnny Grey, Billy Marlow, Jackie Marlow, Jackie Harris, and knockouts over Billy Miller and Irving Shapiro.

IMPROVEMENT FOR COTTON CROP SEEN

Given the week-end to consider the government estimate of a probable crop of 12,956,000 bales of cotton, the announcement of which came after the closing of the market Saturday, the New York Cotton Exchange places the value of the staple lower by some $7.50 a bale today.

The opening of the market was orderly at the lower level, in contrast with what would probably have been the case had the Exchange not closed fifteen minutes prior to the release of the estimate on Saturday.

Plenty of cotton is a bullish point for textiles.

Nature has smiled upon cotton this year. From August 1 to August 16 the crop improved by 605,000 bales. This is the more remarkable, as recent years have shown heavy deterioration during this period. The yield per acre during the first sixteen days this month actually improved 7.2 pounds, the indication now being 153.5 pounds.

Much of the crop improvement is due to the winning battle the weather and the farmer's poison are waging against the voracious boll weevil. The extremely cold Winter of 1923-24 contributed much to weevil mortality and the hot, dry Summer has been an able assistant. It is estimated that last year this pest destroyed 5,000,000 bales of cotton.

In May, cotton was selling for around 24 cents a pound. The perennial crop scares sent it up to 30 cents in late July and now the steadily improved condition has completed the cycle and by virtue of today's 1½-cent drop, the staple is back to 24 cents a pound.

FOURTEEN SPEED KINGS ENTER ALTOONA RACE

Altoona, Pa., Aug. 27.—Entries for the world's championship speed classic to be held on the Altoona speedway closed here today with fourteen of the most renowned drivers listed to pilot racing cars in the 250-mile race on Labor Day.

Heading the list of internationally known drivers are Jimmy Murphy and Tommy Milton, who will pilot their own entries, and Joe Boyer, lead man of the famous Indianapolis team, who was the first to cross the finish line at the 500-mile contest on the Hoosier brick oval last Decoration Day.

STOCKS LOWER IN WALL STREET TRADING

Readjustment of speculative accounts continued throughout the morning in New York with selling accelerated by a bad break in cotton prices.

Oils were adversely affected by gasoline price cuts in New England, although Houston was a notable exception, rising 2½ points.

A further break of 7 points in Colorado Fuel also had an unsettling effect. Lackawanna dropped 2 points, but the losses in most of the other rails were small.

Heavy spots in the industrial list included General Electric, Atlantic Refining, Famous Players, American Can, United Railways Investment preferred, Davison Chemical and Adams Express, off 2 to 2½ points.

Call money opened at 2 per cent.

Maxwell Motors rose around 2 to a new 1924 high. International Cement set a new top for the year.

In trading on the Boston Stock Exchange, the majority of price changes favored the up side. Eastern Steamship alone showed a point change in the early afternoon, rising $1 a share for the common issue. The company report compares:

Wilson & Co. Bonds Drop on Receivership Naming

Fractional recessions in bond prices dominated New York dealings, with the pronounced heaviness of several industrial and public utility liens bringing out free offerings of the speculative rails.

Wilson & Co. convertible 6s declined 2⅜ points and the 7½s fell back 1⅝, after the appointment of a receiver for the company at Trenton, N. J.

Losses of 1 to 1½ points were registered by Kelly-Springfield 8s and local traction issues, including Interborough 7s and Third Avenue Railway adjustment 5s.

BANANAS MAKE MONEY FOR THIS RAIL SYSTEM

July earnings of the International Railways of Central America show an increase of $80,000 in gross and $50,000 in net as compared with the same month last year. This increase, the largest in the company's history, is due to the extensive development under way on the banana plantations in the territory served.

Gross earnings of the road in the first seven months totaled $3,044,246 as against $2,877,629 in the corresponding period of 1923, which is equivalent after taxes, bond interest and preferred dividends, to $2.28 per share on the common stock, as compared with $1.63 in the first seven months of 1923. July gross totaled $378,275.

QUOTATIONS RUN OFF FOR COTTON FUTURES

Losses of seventy to 102 points or more than $5 a bale, was the New York Cotton Market's response to the government's report, issued at noon on Saturday, and forecasting a crop of nearly 13,000,000 bales this year. October dropped 102 points to 24.50; September was down 70 at 24.77; December down 100 at 24.15; and January down 96 at 24.22; March 24.50; May 24.50 to 24.40.

Inspected Used Car Bargains and Insured

Every used car advertised on this page has undergone a rigid inspection. The Boston American employs expert mechanics to make these tests.

Only an "INSPECTED" car can receive the blue certificate of inspection. It is your protection and safeguard.

If you do not see the blue Certificate of Inspection on the windshield of the car you want to buy, ask the dealer to have an inspection made. Or, telephone the Boston American, Liberty 4000. No charge nor obligation.

Cars which pass our inspection are, of course, the good cars. Thus the list below contains the pick of the USED CAR market, in Boston. All types of cars, at all prices, and all inspected.

The Boston American will help you select a Used Car Bargain. Write for free pamphlet explaining the Used Car Plan in detail.

175 of Them, 900 Campers, in One Happy Party

So much of New England as has enjoyed the opportunity to meet and welcome them has been pleased to entertain the 900 tourists who motored into Massachusetts from Connecticut a day or two ago, paid a duty visit to Plymouth Rock and spent the night on the fair grounds at Brockton.

In the main, the party was made up of members of the Patrons of Husbandry, better known as "the Grange," with members of their families.

They left Battle Creek, Michigan, on August 8, and, picking up more grangers in Ohio, New York and Pennsylvania, reached Massachusetts in less than two weeks. Before these lines appear in type they probably will be headed for home.

One hundred and seventy-five motor-cars, in a single party!

Nine hundred men, women and children, living in automobiles and tents!

Hotel keepers, whose perhaps truthful boast it has been that 100 per cent. of their business "comes from out of town," while 90 per cent. of their expenditures remains in the community, will shake their heads over this largest invasion of automobile campers yet reported.

The visitors, we read, were pegging tents, husking corn and heating water on the fair grounds at Brockton before the tenth man could have reached a hotel register, grasped a pen and asked about "the rates."

General passenger agents, too, may hear about this "National Grange Tour" without delight. Here and there, the roads continue to take off a train or two.

Hotel men and railroad men must take courage.

Conditions ARE changing, as conditions always have changed and always will change.

Let our friends, the hotel men, ask themselves how many of these camping tourists would have come to New England this year if someone had not discovered the joys of automobile camping?

Let the general passenger agent ask the same question.

The answer is, not very many.

The possession of an automobile leads inevitably to the birth of desire to see the country; first, SOME of the country; then, MORE of the country; finally, ALL of the country.

And, as the late John Wesley Barber suggested, when he founded the National Recreation Club and began the establishment of semi-public camping places throughout New England, the motor-car HAS made it possible to take a touring vacation at about the cost of remaining at home.

The automobile camper, as an institution, has come to stay, and if there IS a lesson to be learned from the peaceful invasion of Brockton by 900 Americans from the Middle West, it is simply this, that the time has come for the last man Jack of us to go and get himself an automobile.

William C. Pelkey Gets a Letter

Under grave charges in connection with the alleged gassing of the State Senate, worried almost beyond endurance by the care of the runaway Republican Senators who are "hiding" in Massachusetts, Chairman William C. Pelkey of the Republican State Committee of Rhode Island has had added to his grievous troubles the task of answering a letter from "Bill" Derrick.

Mr. Derrick, an organizer of the Amalgamated Textile Workers of America, wants Chairman Pelkey to explain the attitude of the Republican organization in Rhode Island towards the 48-hour law for women and minors and also towards a Constitutional Convention.

"We want to know from the Republicans themselves why they are opposing these things," Mr. Derrick writes to Mr. Pelkey, "and what the Republican party has to offer the working people of the State in the way of helping to solve the many problems that are even more seriously confronting those who work for wages in order to live.

"To this end Local Pawtuxet Valley, Amalgamated Textile Workers of America, has arranged a mass meeting to be held on Arctic Square in the open air on Sunday evening, August 31, at 8 o'clock.

"We invite you to appoint a representative of the Republican party of Rhode Island to take the platform at this meeting and speak to the people on the issues mentioned above and any others he may consider germane to the general subject."

What will Chairman Pelkey do about it? What Republican gladiator pines for the assignment to Arctic Green, a week from Sunday night?

Don't all speak at once!

When the late Sir William Gilbert was dashing off the book of "The Pirates of Penzance," more than thirty-five years ago, and declared that "the POLICEMAN'S lot is not a happy one," the famous librettist simply could not gaze down the vista of the years and see "Bill" Pelkey.

Compared to the job of being Chairman of the Republican State Committee of Rhode Island, in the year of the "Toupin Rebellion," the job of even the traffic cop is as easy as falling off a log.

De Valera on Davis

Great Fighters, the Irish

De Valera, starting his fight for an Irish Republic to replace the Irish Free State, selects for attack this paragraph in John W. Davis' speech:

"Ireland has now shaken off her long subjection."

Great crowds from Claire, Galway and Limerick, with many from Dublin, Cork, Waterford and other population centres, loudly cheered De Valera's statement that Ireland is not satisfied with the Free State arrangement "imposed upon Ireland by threats of force."

It is for the Irish to decide what they want, and to settle it among themselves. Their friends will only regret that after fighting the English for seven hundred years they should now start out, apparently, to fight each other for seven hundred years more. If it took Irishmen seven hundred years to beat the English, how long will it take to beat Irishmen?

A WIFE'S MEDITATIONS

By HELEN ROWLAND

THE kiss was probably invented by the first man as a labor-saving device for taking the argument out of a woman's mouth and answering all her questions without any mental strain.

* * *

A man will always credit a woman with marvelous intuition, because every man fancies himself so subtle that only by magic could any woman possibly see through him.

* * *

Many a man fancies that his heart is dead when some woman's indifference or deceit has merely shocked his vanity into a state of temporary paralysis.

Helen Rowland

After all, Adam had a pretty good eye for a bargain when he exchanged a superfluous rib for something to laugh at, patronize and amuse himself with to the end of time.

* * *

After a few years of quarreling, a man doesn't care what a woman thinks about him so long as she can't prove it in a court of law.

* * *

The average girl would be satisfied if the Summer man's "eternal love" would only last until vacation was over and her boat pulled out.

If woman's sense of humor has really been stunted, it is probably because, in her dealings with men, she has always been expected to laugh when she was bored and to refrain from laughing when she was really amused.

* * *

There is no use asking lovers to be sensible—because love is a dream, and the moment you try to put any sense into it you shake off most of the star-dust.

* * *

The depth of a man's love depends a lot on the amount of time it takes him to get the first kiss. Love thrives so much better on the stimulant of suspense than on the anaesthetic of memory.

* * *

It is not necessary for a woman to have been married more than once in order to write about men. One average husband will teach her all she needs to know about human frailty in order to fill seven or eight novels.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

WHEN the sun has dropped down past the rim of the hill, when the birds have all finished their song, when the world all at once has grown starry and still and the shadows come creeping along, then without a demur I drop playing or work and in haste up the stairway I climb, for there isn't a chance for a fellow to shirk when he knows that it's fairy tale time. Well, I know that they wait, Curly-Locks and Bright-Eyes, each so primly tucked up into bed, all a-thirst for the Tale of the Green Butterflies or the story of Prince Unafraid. Splendid tales they must be, full of action and mirth, with a love-story, too, on the side, they must end with the dragon crushed into the earth and the Prince going home with his bride. When the house has grown still after daylight's loud glee, when the light in the nursery is low, then I know that the kiddies are waiting for me and with joy up the stairway I go. I must spin them a yarn that is brimming with bliss and has plenty of misery, too; where there's magic pent up in a smile or a kiss and the Princess' dreams all come true. It takes so many hours to full up the day, and I find every one of them prime; but the promptings of truth still compel me to say that the best one is fairy tale time!

DR. FRANK CRANE ON FRIENDSHIP

By DR. FRANK CRANE

IT is the custom to look upon friendship between men and women with suspicion.

The hard-headed wisdom of the world finds it difficult to admit that there is any such thing without the entrance of a baser motive.

At the same time there have been as many enduring friendships between men and women as there have been friendships between men and between women. There is no doubt that the play of the sex instinct, in what may be called a secondary or tertiary place, is as stimulating as those of more immediate contact.

There is something in the companionship of men and women that is distinctly stimulating and creative. It is allied to, and germaine to, that creative instinct which enables people to do their best work in the world.

The greatest poetry, if not the greatest prose, has been written under the inspiration of the opposite sex.

There is no doubt but that the companionship is dangerous in a way, but all precious things are dangerous, and this should not induce us to regard with suspicion our friendships. There is something peculiarly stimulating to a man in the friendship of a woman which he does not find in that of a man.

There is such a thing as sex in ideas, and in personality and point of view, as well as more bodily functions; and there is little doubt but what each member of the race is stimulated to do the best work under the influence of the opposite sex.

Boys are better trained if they are allowed to associate freely with girls, and men acquire a smoothness of manner under the influence of women more than they do by themselves. In fact the question of educating each sex by itself has found considerable opposition from those who are best acquainted with the fundamentals of human nature.

Whoever made the human race, male and female, intended them to best develop their personality and live out their lives by being in constant contact one set with another. It is pretty well demonstrated that a life can only find its proper stimulus and interest in the presence of the opposite sex.

It is doubtful whether a man has ever attained distinction without the presence of some of those women who are called "femmes inspiritrice" by the French, which means those women who are especially endowed in inspirational ability.

GARRETT P. SERVISS ON TEMPERATURE

By Garrett P. Serviss

THE recent achievement of melting thorium oxide, at the Bureau of Standards, may serve to remind us of the very restricted conditions as to temperature amidst which we live. We and our contemporaries of the present world depend for our very existence upon a narrow range of temperature.

But the elementary substances out of which this world and its inhabitants are made are not destroyed by variations of temperature, however great; they simply change their state in accord with the degree of heat (that is of molecular excitement) to which they are subjected.

There may, then, be other worlds, at other levels of temperature, inhabited by living creatures suited to their environment, and just as perfect in their way as we are in ours.

Some or All

And they may be composed of some or all of the same elements from which our bodies are formed, but in a different physical state. So logical a thinker as Sir John Herschel did not hesitate to suggest the possibility of living organisms dwelling in the sun, where the temperature is sufficient to keep all known substances in the gaseous state.

In our world thorium oxide is a solid so refractory that it seemed impossible with any degree of heat that we can command to melt it, and so turn it into the liquid state. However, in the home of scientific magic that the Bureau of Standards maintains in the outskirts of Washington they have succeeded in melting thorium oxide. It took a temperature so high that it can only be estimated.

It is thought to be almost twice as high as the melting temperature of platinum, which itself is 3,200 degrees Fahrenheit. Even this, however, would be well below the melting temperature of carbon, which has been estimated at no less than 7,232 degrees Fahrenheit. Carbon has been called the most characteristic element in the composition of living things.

It is still carbon, even when melted or vaporized, but in this world its customary state is that of a solid. Most of the substances around us here are temporarily in the solid state. The principal exceptions are two: The air, a mixture of gases and water, a compound of gases in the liquid state. But we cannot say that in the broad sense, any substance as we find it is in its "natural" state. The state depends upon the circumstances, i. e. upon the temperature.

The case of water is very interesting. Water is our comrade. The limits within which it is able to maintain itself in the liquid state are not very far from those in which we are able to maintain our lives. Water freezes and turns into the hard and brittle solid, ice, at a temperature of 32 degrees Fahrenheit. We can resist temperatures lower than that but not permanently.

Water again loses its liquid state and passes into that of a vapor or gas at the temperature of 212 degrees Fahrenheit. This is considerably above any temperature at which we can live, even for a short time, in a world where water was permanently in the steam state we constituted as we are here, could not survive. In a world where water was permanently in the ice state we could not long survive, either.

We seem to be perched on a narrow ledge with an abyss of death on either hand. We are born like snowflakes by the grace of a special temperature prevailing among our surroundings, and like snowflakes we vanish when a too cold beam strikes us, or shrivel at the skeletonizing touch of thermal zero.

Relative Proportions.

It is curious to see how changes in the mean temperature of the earth would alter the relative proportions of solids and liquids on its surface. If the temperature exceeded 445 degrees Fahrenheit, tin would become liquid instead of a solid metal. Above 674 degrees mercury would boil and begin to turn into vapor. On the other hand, if the temperature dropped below minus 37.8 degrees, mercury would become like water at plus 32 degrees, a solid.

Above 206 degrees sodium would be liquid, and above 246 degrees sulphur would follow suit. Lead would not remain solid above 621 degrees, nor zinc above 785. But it would require a temperature of 1,942 degrees to make gold run in liquid streams from the quartz ledges, and one above 2,742 degrees to turn iron into a permanent liquid. But oxygen becomes solid below minus 361 degrees, hydrogen below 436, and helium below 454.

Once-Overs

RESPECT FOR THE LAW IS FIRST LESSON IN OBEDIENCE.

Public officials are accustomed to the thought that they are in the eye of the public and are bound to be criticized by their constituents.

Few realize that the eyes of the younger generation are just as alert and wide awake to their transgressions, if there be any, and the boy or the girl is not so easily impressed by an effort to "explain away" bad impressions.

It happened that the street commissioners were leveling and filling in spots in a certain residential district and had put up partial barricades to prevent traffic on the streets just before oiling.

Sonny asked his father what the red flag meant and the father thought it a good opportunity to bring home a lesson on obedience to law.

"But Dad," said the small boy—naming a prominent neighbor who had run for office—"Mr. So-and-So drove through there just the same and the gravel came right out of the spots and stuck to his car and nobody stopped him, and you voted for him, didn't you?"

How are you going to teach a small boy to respect signs that their elders disregard?
